1 P R O C E E D I N G S

2 CLERK: Good morning. I am Yvette Mills,
3 Courtroom Deputy for Chief Judge Alan S. Trust presiding.
4 These hearings are being recorded. Please speak clearly.

5 I just want everyone starting with the Debtors' 6 attorney to just give your appearance and who you represent.

7 MR. NOLAN: Good morning. Jeff Nolan from 8 Pachulski Stang & Ziehl, along with Ilan Scharf, 9 representing the Trustee, Howard Ehrenberg.

10 CLERK: Donald Campbell?

11 MR. CAMPBELL: Yes. Donald Campbell on behalf of 12 Howard Schoor, S-C-H-O-O-R.

13 CLERK: Could I have Joseph Orbach?

14 MR. ORBACH: Joseph Orbach. I'm just on a listen 15 only. I represent Howard Ehrenberg, but not in any of the 16 adversaries proceeding today.

17 CLERK: No problem. Lauren Pittinsky. Maryann
18 Hadden.

19 MS. HADDEN: Maryann Hadden from Parlatore Law
20 Group, LLP, on behalf of 2 River Terrace.

21 MR. PITTINSKY: Lawrence Pittinsky, Rosenberg &
22 Pittinsky, on behalf of the Board of Managers of River House 23 Condominium.

24 CLERK: Sanford Rosen.

25 MR. ROSEN: Good morning. Sanford Rosen, Rosen &

1 Associates PC, on behalf of Arvind Walia.

2 CLERK: And can I have the person whose phone 3 number is 917-809-0346?

4 MR. GYPARAKIS: Good morning. Paris Gyparakis, 5 Rosen & Associates, counsel to Arvind Walia.

6 CLERK: What was your name?

7 MR. GYPARAKIS: Paris Gyparakis, G-Y-P-A-R-A-K-I-
8 S.

9 CLERK: What was the first name?

10 MR. GYPARAKIS: Paris, like the city, P-A-R-I-S.

11 CLERK: And the last name?

12 MR. GYPARAKIS: G-Y-P-A-R-A-K-I-S.

13 CLERK: Okay, thank you. I believe we have all 14 the parties, Judge. Case No -- well, it's adversary 15 starting with 20-8042, Ehrenberg v. Howard Schoor.

16 MR. CAMPBELL: Schoor.

17 THE COURT: Take appearances, please.

18 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Good morning, Your Honor. Jeff
19 Nolan appearing on behalf of the Plaintiff, Howard Ehrenberg 20 in his capacity as a liquidating trustee.

21 MR. CAMPBELL: Good morning, Your Honor. Don 22 Campbell from the Law Firm of Giordano Halleran & Ciesla on 23 behalf of Defendant, Howard Schoor.

24 THE COURT: All right. As Ms. Mills did, I'm just 25 going to ask if everyone else will mute their line. If 1 you're not involved in this hearing, please mute your line.

2 All right, Mr. Nolan.

3 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor. As the Court may 4 recall, this is an adversary. It's about $160,000 at issue, 5 it's a fraudulent conveyance case under the Bankruptcy Code,
6 as well as under the New York Debt and Creditor Law.

7 We have a case management and discovery plan in 8 place; fact discovery was to be closed as of yesterday, and 9 expert designations are at the end of the month, and we have 10 gone forward with the depositions of the plaintiff.

11 As you may recall, the plaintiff also requested
12 that the Court allow the plaintiff to file a summary
13 judgment motion. We submitted a letter to the Court 14 approximately a month ago, and the Court directed that 15 counsel meet and confer and submit a joint statement of 16 uncontroverted facts, which the parties have done and have 17 submitted a joint statement of uncontroverted facts and it 18 should be before the Court.

19 I'll allow -- I know -- I got an email this 20 morning saying that the defendant wanted to address some 21 additional time. I'll leave that to my colleague and 22 opposing counsel for the defendant.

23 THE COURT: Let me ask, Mr. Nolan, before you toss 24 the baton so to speak. The letter that was submitted and 25 requested a pre-motion conference references New York DCL

1 276. Is it the plaintiffs' contemplation that if you move 2 forward with summary judgment, it would solely be on an 3 actual intent of fraudulent transfer claim?

4 MR. NOLAN: No, Your Honor. We would also be 5 under 273 of the New York Debtor and Creditor Law, so it 6 would be a fraudulent, intentionally fraudulent transfer as 7 well as a constructively fraudulent transfer, as well as the 8 Bankruptcy Code within the 548.

9 THE COURT: All right. And so, I know you said 10 your designations under the scheduling agreement for experts 11 are later this week or later this -- well, later this week, 12 next week. Is it the intention of the plaintiff to submit 13 an expert opinion on solvency or insolvency on the relevant 14 dates of the transfers as part of the summary judgment 15 motion?

16 MR. NOLAN: Well, I was hoping that the Court 17 could -- okay, the immediate answer is, Your Honor, we would 18 be filing a motion for summary judgment. I think at this 19 point, since we're so close to the expert designation date, 20 that it would make sense to allow the expert report to be 21 exchanged and to allow just one, you know, bite at the apple 22 on summary judgment, which would incorporate all the 23 theories of liability under the Complaint.

24 THE COURT: All right. All right, thank you. Mr.
25 Campbell.

1 MR. CAMPBELL: Yes, Your Honor, good morning.

2 Donald Campbell.

3 Mr. Nolan is correct. We have issued a subpoena
4 to Merrill Lynch Bank of America. We received a phone call 5 yesterday from Bank of America requesting additional time to 6 respond to provide documents. We just sent a letter to Mr.
7 Nolan this morning asking if he would consent to a two-week
8 extension of discovery solely to provide Bank of America
9 additional time to provide those documents.

10 Those documents are a request for the transfers of 11 the funds that were loaned by Mr. Schoor and directed to a 12 Merrill Lynch account, and it's our hope that we're looking 13 for information with regards to the connection, if any, 14 between the debtor entities and this Merrill Lynch account, 15 so we'd ask for that short request.

16 And Mr. Nolan hasn't had an opportunity to consent
17 or not, but we'd ask for that short extension, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: All right. In terms of the 19 designations of experts which are coming up, is it the 20 defendants' intention to retain an expert on solvency?

21 MR. CAMPBELL: Yes, Your Honor. We have not seen 22 the plaintiffs' expert report yet, but obviously, we'd look 23 to evaluate that and retain an expert to review and analyze 24 the trustee's report on insolvency at the time of the 25 transfers.

1 THE COURT: All right, thank you. Mr. Nolan, let 2 me go back to you then. If I'm going to have competing 3 expert opinions on solvency at the relevant dates of the 4 transfers, wouldn't it be less expensive and potentially no
5 more time consuming to simply try the case rather than go 6 through a potentially expensive summary judgment process?

7 I've looked at the stipulated facts. It appears 8 to the Court that the parties have obviously attempted to 9 limit the issues that would need to be tried at the time of 10 trial. But unless there's an agreement on solvency or 11 insolvency of the transferor entity on the date of the 12 transfers, don't I end up trying the case on solvency 13 anyway?

14 MR. NOLAN: Well, Your Honor, the -- if it's an 15 intentionally fraudulent transfer, solvency is not an area 16 of inquiry. And what I think the facts that we stipulated 17 to show is that there is a promissory note between Mr.
18 Schoor, who was the neighbor of Mr. Parmar, and it says it's 19 a personal loan.

20 And in discovery, we asked for any documents
21 surrounding the loan, and everything that the plaintiff 22 received back, including the testimony of the defendant, is 23 that this was a personal loan made not for business purposes
24 and which Mr. Schoor continually over a period of five years
25 asked Mr. Parmar to honor his word as a friend, as a loan

1 that was made in friendship.

2 And I think based on the fact that there's no 3 documents tying the loan that was given, and the fact that 4 it's undisputed that the money that was paid back was paid 5 back with the debtors' funds, that defendant can't simply 6 just rely on oral testimony from Mr. Schoor that says, well, 7 he told me that somewhere along the line, he was going to 8 use this for his business.

9 I think the case law in New York demands that 10 there be at least some documentation, (a) showing that it's 11 a valid antecedent debt and that it's an antecedent debt of 12 the debtor.

13 And then the most compelling of all, Your Honor, 14 on the fraudulent -- on intentional fraudulent conveyance
15 is, as the Court knows, under both the New York Debt 16 Creditor Law and the Bankruptcy Code, it's the intent of the 17 transferor that's at issue, which is Mr. Parmar.

18 And the plaintiff has undisputed evidence that 19 after this personal loan was given between Mr. Parmar and 20 Mr. Schoor and after the debtor paid back the debt with the 21 debtors' monies, Mr. Parmar and Mr. Chivukula, the CFO, went 22 back and created a fake consulting agreement, a consulting 23 agreement that I gave to Mr. Schoor at his deposition, and 24 he said "I didn't sign it, I've never been a consultant to 25 the debtor, I've never given any consulting services to any

1 of Mr. Parmar's companies". And that's just per se evidence 2 of a fraudulent conveyance.

3 It was coded in the debtors' books and records as 4 professional fees, and Mr. Chivukula in an email to Mr.
5 Parmar even says, "Hey, we have to come up with some reason 6 for why we paid this loan back."

7 THE COURT: Mr. Nolan, you're now circling back to 8 my initial question to you, which was the trustee's 9 intending to move forward for summary judgment just on the 10 DCL 276 actual intent claim or more, because I understand 11 the narrow strike argument that you're making on the motion 12 that's not in front of me yet, it's actual intent 276 when 13 we're done here.

14 MR. NOLAN: Sure.

15 THE COURT: And if they're asking to do is move 16 for summary judgment on that one claim, I understand that; 17 that's narrow -- you might win, you might not. But to 18 broaden it out to include reasonably equivalent or lack of 19 reasonably equivalent value under constructive fraud claims; 20 that's a beast of a different nature.

21 So now I'm back to the first question I asked you, 22 which is, does the trustee want to file a summary judgment 23 motion while it's full summary judgment, it's only on the 24 276 issue.

25 MR. NOLAN: Your Honor, thank you for the

1 clarification. I think that's correct. I think then we 2 could limit the single issue in front of the Court to be the 3 New York Debt and Creditor Law 276 cause of action.

4 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Campbell, you said
5 that you're waiting on some documents from Merrill Bank of 6 America, and I'll just treat those as documents that you
7 would want for response to a summary judgment -- to respond 8 to a summary judgment motion on the 276 actual intent claim.

9 Is there any other discovery that's owed or 10 outstanding that might relate to the actual intent claim?

11 MR. CAMPBELL: At this time, Your Honor, I don't 12 believe so. Of course, I haven't seen the Merrill Lynch 13 documents and it's possible that that could lead to 14 additional requests, but I think it's unlikely; however, I 15 don't -- I would be speculating if I know.

16 But based on Bank of America's voicemail message
17 they left me, it sounds like it may be voluminous, but I 18 just don't know, so I hope that's a sufficient answer, Your 19 Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay, fair enough. So then let's 21 proceed on this basis. Relevant to this adversary
22 proceeding and some of the others that we're going to talk 23 about this morning, the Court is satisfied a trial date in 24 early June for some of these adversary proceedings or 25 potentially others that are not in front of me today.

1 It would seem that given the good work that you
2 all have done on the stipulated facts, there's probably not 3 much more that would be necessary for the plaintiffs' 4 summary judgment motion and then obviously any response from 5 the defendant. I don't know at this point that I need a 6 reply because in a reply, I'm not going to consider any 7 evidence that wasn't submitted either through the 8 stipulation or the ultimate motion.

9 So I can set a schedule for you all that tracks 10 you toward a June 7 trial week setting, but also potentially 11 gets to resolution of the 276 issue before you all spend the 12 big money on expert witness. Now, you may be all ready to 13 do that, you may want to revisit your timeline, but I would 14 recommend that you all discuss whether or not you really 15 want to now spend the money on the timeline you're on for 16 experts if we're going to take a rifle shot on the 276.

17 Bu the Court has set aside -- Miss Mills, what is 18 the date in March that we're now using for Orion?

19 CLERK: I believe it's March --

20 THE COURT: Is it March 16th?

21 CLERK: Yes.

22 THE COURT: March 16th?

23 CLERK: Yeah, March 16th at 10:00.

24 THE COURT: All right. So what we can do is this 25 is since you all are obviously working cooperatively

1 together, is for you all to come up with a submission 2 schedule that would have the summary judgment argued on 3 March 16th at 10:00 a.m.

4 My admonition to you all is I'm happy for you all
5 to agree to dates and deadlines that work for you 6 respectively, but I want to make sure that everything the 7 Court's being asked to look at is last submitted by March 8 9th, so that we have a week ahead of time.

9 So that should give the plaintiff time to go ahead
10 and get the summary judgment record ready, let the defendant
11 file the response in advance of March 9th. And again, I 12 don't know that I'm going to need a reply brief on these 13 issues, but if one of you believes it's critical to have it, 14 then just make sure that it's filed by no later than March 15 9th.

16 And again, recognizing that if summary judgment
17 were denied, you would be tilting toward a June 7 trial, 18 just recalibrate how you want to handle the expert deadlines
19 in the event -- this is capital I, capital F -- if the case 20 is resolved at summary judgment. Fair enough?

21 MR. NOLAN: Understood, Your Honor.

22 MR. CAMPBELL: Yes, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: So then what I'll have you do is just 24 go ahead after -- go ahead and confer offline, and then just 25 submit a letter outlining the dates by which plaintiff shall

1 file, defendant shall respond. I'll also order that once 2 it's submitted, but you know the outside date I'm looking at 3 is March 9th with an argument March 16th at 10:00 a.m.

4 For today's purposes, I'm going to adjourn the 5 pretrial conference over to the March 16 at 10:00 a.m.; that 6 gets it on that calendar. When the plaintiff files their 7 summary judgment motions, just want to make sure that you
8 then give notice of hearing for it for March 16th at 10:00
9 a.m.

10 As far as the additional time to get the documents
11 from Merrill and Bank of America, I'll take Mr. Nolan not 12 saying not to that as assent to that extension, so that will 13 be fine, Mr. Campbell.

14 MR. CAMPBELL: Thank you, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: All right. And also, to the extent 16 that you all modify the scheduling order that was previously 17 submitted to account for our discussion this morning about 18 summary judgment and expert witnesses, just reflect that in 19 the same letter to the Court to be so ordered.

20 We'll then issue the trial scheduling order that 21 will include these dates and deadlines in it so that you're 22 on trial track for June 7th in the event that summary
23 judgment were denied as a result of the March 16 hearing.

24 All right. Anything else we need to discuss then 25 this morning on 20-08042, other than the Court saying

1 obviously feel free to settle between now and then and take 2 it out of my hands?

3 MR. CAMPBELL: For defendant, nothing further, 4 Your Honor.

5 MR. NOLAN: One question from the plaintiff. Your 6 Honor, how is it in New York? Are you doing trials via Zoom 7 or is everything shut down?

8 THE COURT: So as of right now, the March 16 will 9 definitely be via WebEx, and we'll issue an order setting
10 that WebEx protocol. June 7, I don't know yet whether we'll 11 be live or Memorex, I guess is the old line, but whether 12 we'll be live or via WebEx or some combination; details to 13 follow on that. But at the current time, I have been and 14 will continue to try cases via WebEx even while we're 15 operating under our emergency code of procedures.

16 MR. NOLAN: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: All right, very well. Thank you, 18 both.

19 MR. CAMPBELL: All right, thank you. Have a great 20 day.

21 CLERK: Case Number 20-8049.

22 MR. NOLAN: Jeff Nolan appearing on behalf of the 23 Plaintiff, Howard Ehrenberg.

24 MR. ROSEN: Good morning, Your Honor. Sanford
25 Rosen, Rosen and Associates, PC. And I'm appearing on 1 behalf of the Defendant.

2 THE COURT: All right. Very well.

3 MR. NOLAN: Your Honor?

4 THE COURT: Mr. Nolan, on status, please go ahead.

5 MR. NOLAN: Yeah. Your Honor, so we had submitted
6 at the prior pretrial conference, Counsel and I had at least 7 uploaded a case management and discovery plan. It has not 8 been executed by the Court. In the interim, since the last 9 scheduling conference, Counsel for the Defendants and I have 10 met and conferred and we went through some of the issues in 11 the case.

12 This is a $6-million fraudulent conveyance action.
13 And there's an issue with some of the transfers. And 14 Defendants had indicated they had received some of the 15 transfers, and they had not received others. The Trustee 16 has subsequently gone back and looked at some of the 17 underlying transfers that are at issue. And I believe, Your 18 Honor, what we are going to do is either amend the complaint 19 to add more detail for the Defendant as to some of the 20 multi-million dollar transfers or, you know, provide that 21 information with specificity.

22 And once we do that, I think the parties at least 23 are working amicably enough that we can submit a case
24 management and discovery plan to the Court that'll track 25 this in a similar fashion to some of the other adversaries.

1 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Rosen?

2 MR. ROSEN: No, that's accurate, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: All right. In terms of the dates and 4 deadlines, I know that you all had from a prior conference 5 talked about discovery ending yesterday and experts by early 6 April. Are you talking about other dates, different dates, 7 at this point?

8 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. NOLAN: We would submit a discovery plan that 11 would probably have, you know, a two-week lag to go ahead.
12 I mean we've done Rule 26 disclosures, but we've probably 13 then set forth a fact discovery period which would be, you 14 know, 90 to 120 days and then have the dates for experts 15 similar to all the other case management and discovery plans 16 that you've seen from our firm.

17 THE COURT: All right. So under current 18 contemplation, I'm just trying to think when would be the 19 most productive time to have you all back in. If you're 20 talking about discovery -- fact discovery cutting off late 21 April, perhaps May, and then experts to follow on, it may 22 make more sense to simply bring you in for your next 23 pretrial conference in May when we're setting up pretrial 24 conferences for Orion. I don't know that it's going to be 25 productive to have you all back in before then. Do you have

1 a sense of that, Mr. Nolan?

2 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor. I think we'll have 3 the pleadings at issue in the next 30 days. So we could 4 either -- a couple of different scenarios. We could either
5 be back in front of the Court on March 16th, and the Court 6 could enter a case management and discovery plan based on 7 what the Court felt was appropriate where the parties were.
8 Or I think we could simply stipulate to the case management 9 and discovery plan and submit it to the Court for review and 10 approval without, you know, having to clog the courtroom and 11 see us again.

12 THE COURT: All right. The second sounds like it 13 may be more cost effective and efficient. Mr. Rosen, do you 14 have a view on that?

15 MR. ROSEN: I agree with you, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: All right. So then let's do this, 17 we'll set -- let you do it by amended complaint or a 18 supplemental complaint. You all are working cooperatively 19 together. I'll leave it to you all to work that out. What 20 we'll do is we'll adjourn today's pretrial conference to May 21 18th at 2 o'clock. May 18th at 2 o'clock, anticipating that 22 well before then the Court will have entered a trial 23 scheduling order that would include the dates that the 24 parties have worked out for close of discovery and other 25 issues which you may stipulate to.

1 Obviously, if something comes up where you need us
2 before May, you know where we are. But in terms of a
3 pretrial conference on keeping the case tracking toward a 4 trial, I think May 18th will work fine. And then once we 5 get the amended proposed scheduling order in, then we'll 6 issue that order and then we'll find you all a trial date
7 consistent with the deadlines -- the dates and deadlines 8 that you all are currently discussing.

9 But for today's purposes, Mr. Nolan, will you 10 docket notice of adjournment of the pretrial conference to 11 May 18 at 2 o'clock? And then we'll look for the submission 12 of the amended proposed scheduling order.

13 MR. NOLAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

14 MR. ROSEN: Thank you, Your Honor.

15 CLERK: Case Number 20-8052.

16 MR. NOLAN: Jeff Nolan appearing on behalf of the 17 Plaintiff, Howard Ehrenberg in his capacity as Liquidating 18 Trustee.

19 THE COURT: Do we have Defendant's counsel?

20 MR. NOLAN: I did not hear him sign on. It's 21 Anthony Giuliani.

22 THE COURT: Ms. Mills, do we have him on?

23 CLERK: Let me see if someone just came on. I 24 don't have him on, Judge.

25 THE COURT: Okay. All right.

1 CLERK: I don't know --

2 THE COURT: Mr. Nolan?

3 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor. So, Your Honor, we 4 have a case management and discovery plan in place in this 5 adversary. Fact discovery is to be completed no later than 6 March 15th. There's been no depositions yet, but there has 7 been written discovery exchanged. And we're just moving
8 along in that capacity. There's been a number of subpoenas 9 issued. So, you know, nothing eventful to report to the 10 Court.

11 THE COURT: All right. And we do have a proposed 12 discovery control plan. I don't see that the June 7 date 13 that the Court had discussed earlier would likely work for 14 the trial on this one since expert discovery would not be 15 completed until the end of May. I don't think that gives 16 you all enough time.

17 MR. NOLAN: Yeah. In this one, Your Honor -- I'm 18 sorry, I didn't fill you in on the big picture. This is a 19 fraudulent conveyance cause of action for about $250,000.
20 It's a little more complicated than some of the other 21 matters. So I would agree with the Court there could be 22 issues, since I've issued approximately six subpoenas to 23 different entities, that could raise an issue, a factual
24 issue trying to get everything in the door before the close 25 of fact discovery.

1 So Plaintiff certainly is -- it's acceptable to 2 the Plaintiff to have this on a little later of a trajectory
3 than the Schoor matter.

4 THE COURT: All right. Would it make sense, 5 again, in terms of cost and efficiency, to bring this one 6 back in on May 18th? It'll be pretty close to the end of -- 7 at least the contemplated end of expert discovery, we'll 8 issue you a scheduling order that includes a trial date that 9 incorporates the dates and deadlines that you all have 10 agreed to. That trial date will not be June or earlier.

11 I don't know that there's a reason to bring you
12 all back in before the May 18.

13 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor. I think that's 14 acceptable. I mean depending upon what is, you know, 15 determined through fact discovery, this might be a similar 16 case as Schoor that might have an intentional fraudulent
17 theory. And I mean we could all visit that in May 18th 18 after fact discovery is cut.

19 THE COURT: All right. Fair enough. All right.
20 So then for today's purposes, Mr. Nolan, if you'll docket
21 notice of adjournment to May 18 at 2 o'clock, let Mr.
22 Giuliani know we missed him. And in the event that there's 23 a need for a pre-hearing, a pre-motion conference if the 24 Plaintiff does tilt towards summary judgment on this one, 25 unless there's a reason or need to have that sooner, then

1 you could also use the May 18 at 2 o'clock for that unless 2 there's a need to have it sooner.

3 MR. NOLAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

4 CLERK: Case Number 20-8051.

5 MR. NOLAN: Jeff Nolan appearing on behalf of the 6 Plaintiff, Howard Ehrenberg.

7 MS. HADDEN: And Maryann Hadden appearing on 8 behalf of Defendant 2 River Terrace Apartment 12-J, LLC.

9 MR. PITTINSKY: Larry Pittinsky, Rosenberg &
10 Pittinsky, appearing on Riverhouse -- Board of Managers of 11 Riverhouse Condominium.

12 THE COURT: All right. The Court had notified the 13 parties we were going to use this morning as argument on 14 summary judgment. Let me ask before we launch into that, 15 has there been any change on the status on the ground with 16 respect to the sale of the unit or, in the bigger picture, 17 settlement issues?

18 MR. PITTINSKY: Your Honor, Mr. Pittinsky speaking 19 on the sale. I don't know if you want that to go first.
20 The sale's scheduled for the 29th of this month and 21 dependent upon what Your Honor does vis-à-vis the 22 Plaintiff's motion, whether the sale will proceed or not on 23 that date. But it was adjourned. If Your Honor remembers 24 from the last court appearance, I made a representation to 25 speak to the Board and to work cooperatively with all

1 parties. And we did adjourn the sale. The new date is 2 January 29th.

3 MS. HADDEN: And, also, Your Honor, on that, same
4 issue as to the sale. I was asked by my client --

5 THE COURT: Please state your name again, please.

6 MS. HADDEN: Oh, I apologize, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Just state your name again. That's 8 okay.

9 MS. HADDEN: Maryann Hadden. I was asked by my 10 client to file a proceeding in state court to attempt to 11 stop the sale, obviously not knowing how things will resolve 12 in front of Your Honor today in regards to the summary
13 judgment motion. So an order to show cause and a complaint 14 were both filed in state court yesterday. I do not have an 15 index number yet, which is the only reason why I have not 16 yet served them on Mr. Pittinsky.

17 But, Mr. Pittinsky, I will -- I'll actually email
18 you a copy before I get the index number just so that you 19 have the paperwork in advance.

20 MR. PITTINSKY: I appreciate that courtesy, but -- 21 and I'm not going to debate this before Judge Turner. But 22 under the rules, if you're seeking a stay, you are required 23 to serve me with those papers prior to filing under the 24 local court rules. So you have not done that.

25 MS. HADDEN: I have not even received an index

1 number, so I will -- we'll obviously not debate this at this 2 point, but I'll speak with you on -- if it's acceptable to 3 you, I'll give you a call once we're off the record here and 4 we can have a conversation later.

5 MR. PITTINSKY: That's fine.

6 MS. HADDEN: Okay, thank you.

7 THE COURT: Let me, and I appreciate --

8 MS. HADDEN: Thank you.

9 THE COURT: -- I appreciate you all taking that 10 dispute over there -- well, that narrow issue over there.
11 But in terms of a bigger-picture issue, obviously, if there 12 have been settlement discussions, I don't want to know who 13 asked for what and who offered what, that's not my province.
14 But have the parties discussed a protocol to monetize --
15 that's the big-dollar word they use in the Southern District
16 of New York and other courts -- monetizing the unit, 17 basically selling the unit off, paying off the -- kind of 18 the liens that are putting the time trigger on their sale 19 and then simply duking it out over who gets the rest?

20 MR. NOLAN: Jeff Nolan --

21 THE COURT: I assume, Mr. Nolan, that the 22 Trustee's long-term plan if he prevails on litigation is 23 he's going to sell the unit, convert it to cash, and figure 24 out what to do with the money. So I'm wondering if you all 25 have already had that discussion now to see if you can do

1 that now while the litigation sorts itself out.

2 MR. NOLAN: Well, Your Honor, I can state to the 3 Court that I did have conversations with the Defendant to 4 try to step around some of the difficulties with the lien
5 that's against the unit and get it in a position that it
6 could certainly go in that direction. That is accurate, 7 Your Honor, that the Trustee's perspective is that this is 8 an asset of the estate that should be monetized.

9 The Trustee certainly can hold title under the 10 trust agreement. But the Trustee, as the Court would know, 11 is not in the business of operating condominium units, 12 residential condominium units. And -- but we just have been 13 unable to unearth this condominium unit and was hoping that 14 the summary judgment motion might present a path to do that.

15 I think the Plaintiff is certainly in agreement 16 with what the Court is stating that -- I don't know if 17 Mr. -- if the Defendant believes that the real property is 18 unique in such a way that they would share that it's a money 19 dispute as opposed to something, you know, deeper.

20 THE COURT: Ms. Hadden?

21 MS. HADDEN: There's certainly at least some 22 personal property involved in the apartment that the manager
23 of my client has not had access to. So in that sense, I 24 can, you know, certainly represent that he at least would 25 consider it to be an individual item of real property as

1 opposed to a monetizable asset.

2 And Mr. Nolan's absolutely correct. We did, you
3 know, engage in some initial discussions about it. I can't 4 say that we're at the point or even close to the point where 5 I would describe it as being something where we're in 6 agreement on it, not to say that that agreement isn't 7 possible in the future but we're certainly not there yet.

8 THE COURT: All right.

9 MR. PITTINSKY: So, Your Honor, from the 10 Condominium's point of view, if the unit gets sold by the 11 entity that's technically on the deed, we would have our 12 rights. But I don't see the Board waiting for that event to 13 occur just in a vacuum, number one.

14 Number two, any claim by Ms. Hadden that there's 15 been access denied or not permitted, it's just factually 16 false. We would never make a claim. Actually, let me
17 revisit that. If there's personal property in the apartment 18 and our judgment is not satisfied by virtue of the sale, 19 then we might seek a restraint against anything that's in 20 the apartment if it's owned by the LLC. But that's getting 21 ahead of myself in terms of the collection on the judgment.

22 THE COURT: From what's been told to the Court
23 thus far, if this unit were sold in an arms-length open 24 transaction and it didn't bring enough to pay off the 25 condominium lien, we'd be having a much less pleasant

1 conversation than what we're having right now, so --

2 MS. HADDEN: I think that's accurate, Your Honor.

3 MR. NOLAN: Your Honor, Jeff Nolan for the 4 Plaintiff. I think it would be a fair assumption for the 5 Court that if the Plaintiff did prevail and the conveyance
6 was set aside, that the Trustee would move to immediately, 7 in a regular sale that could maximize the value, liquidate
8 the property. And that would not necessarily mean that, you 9 know, that the money realized couldn't be somehow, you know,
10 utilized to, A, satisfy the Condominium Association and, B, 11 before the Court's jurisdiction to do as it, you know, 12 ultimately determines should be done.

13 I mean it would be an estate asset, and it would 14 be subject to the bankruptcy court's oversight and approval 15 just like any other bankruptcy court case.

16 THE COURT: All right. Well, I would encourage 17 the parties to pick -- I will generously say pick up those 18 conversations where they left off. I'm sure, as you all 19 know, that there are procedures specifically under Section 20 363(f) of the Bankruptcy Code to have the sale of interest 21 in which the estate -- property in which the estate claims 22 an interest sold free and clear of lien, claims, 23 encumbrances, have those liens attach to the proceeds, pay 24 the condominium assessment and liens off, and then fight 25 over who gets the -- what would appear at this point appear

1 to be several million dollars of proceeds.

2 That's not before me today. But, again, I would 3 encourage the parties to pick those discussions up where 4 they may have left off.

5 So let me turn then to, Mr. Nolan, if you want to 6 then proceed on the summary judgment motion.

7 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you.

8 Your Honor, we submitted a joint statement of 9 fact, uncontroverted facts, with the cooperation of Counsel
10 for the Defendant. And, you know, we're here on a Trustee's
11 motion for summary judgment, because in the Trustee's 12 opinion, this is a textbook case of a fraudulent conveyance.
13 The underlying facts are not in dispute. There's no dispute 14 that the transfer took place, that 5.6 million was taken out 15 of the Debtor's bank accounts by the Debtor's CEO who 16 controlled and operated a debtor entity in the healthcare 17 sector, and he took the money out not to buy something 18 related to the business of the Debtor but to buy a 19 residential condo in Manhattan.

20 There's no dispute before the Court that the title
21 to the real property was parked in an LLC which the CEO 22 incorporated only days before and which he owns, controls, 23 and says he solely manages. There's also no dispute before 24 this Court that the CEO instructed his identity be concealed 25 with respect it purchasing and occupying the condominium

1 unit. There's no dispute that he thereafter moved into the 2 unit solely for his own personal benefit, and he's been 3 using the condominium unit solely under his own control and 4 personal benefit, allowed others to use it for their 5 personal benefit including his family members, his 6 girlfriend, et cetera.

7 I think one thing that should give this Court some 8 confidence that the CEO manipulated and controlled this 9 debtor entity however he wanted to use it is that after he 10 moved into the property, he used the Debtor's credit cards 11 to pay for the upkeep for at least a year and a quarter that 12 he occupied the unit. It's not a disputed fact in the 13 separate statement that about $67,000 was incurred on the 14 Debtor's credit cards to pay for the taxes, the common costs 15 associated with it.

16 There was nothing put forward in the opposition to 17 justify why an executive with the Debtor could do such -- 18 take such actions. That should give the Court another piece 19 of evidence to indicate that the Debtor was manipulated by 20 the CEO.

21 The motion sets forth, Your Honor, admissible
22 evidence that the diversion of funds was, in fact, simply a 23 cash-and-grab. The opposition does not dispute that the 24 transaction occurred. They simply try to justify it here in 25 2020 and the year 2021 that, hey, there's some documents

1 that could be their contention would support the basis for a 2 debt and the diversion of $5.6 million.

3 But the facts before the Court, Your Honor, it's 4 not disputed that there's no book entries that, A,
5 memorialize an antecedent debt and, B, there's no book 6 entries -- nothing in the Debtor's books and records that 7 evidence that the transfer of this real -- of the money and 8 the transfer of the real property satisfied an antecedent 9 debt.

10 So what the Court's left with is the estate which 11 is depleted of $5.6 million and with no similar exchanging 12 value given to the Debtor. And that's the textbook 13 definition of a fraudulent conveyance, has the estate been 14 depleted without exchanging property of similar value to the 15 Debtor to the prejudice of the Debtor's unsecured creditors.

16 Our papers, the Mellon Bank case, which says 17 that's kind of the big picture that the Court looks at when 18 they look at a fraudulent conveyance. And if anything, Your 19 Honor, the Plaintiff's contention is the opposition should 20 give the Court some confidence that what the evidence the 21 Plaintiff said occurred is in fact true. We submitted --

22 THE COURT: That's more -- Mr. Nolan, hang on, 23 that's more on the actual intent side because I think you're 24 now -- it sounds like you were now going into the 25 constructive fraudulent transfer side. And let me ask you

1 on the constructive fraudulent transfer side, we do have a
2 fairly extensive affidavit from Mr. Jones, but he's not 3 presented as a solvency expert.

4 He's done a forensic analysis and is providing 5 some contemporaneous and prior -- some contemporaneous, some 6 subsequent documents. But he does not -- possibly because 7 he wasn't retained to do this, he's not actually expressed 8 an opinion on solvency or insolvency on or before or after 9 the dates of the transfers of the payments for the condo.

10 MR. NOLAN: That's correct, Your Honor. We did 11 not submit a -- and we have not submitted a solvency report.
12 The motion on the constructive fraud side of the analysis is 13 basically that, number one, if the Debtor evidences to the 14 Court or the Plaintiff evidences to the Court that there was 15 no consideration for the transaction, then insolvency -- the 16 Debtor's presumed to be insolvent, as well as if the -- 17 under 273(a), there's another theory that we set forth to 18 the Court which that under 273(a), the analysis is good 19 faith and fair consideration.

20 And if the Plaintiff shows to the Court it's a 21 self-interested transaction, that's a transaction where the 22 defendant is on both sides of the equation and which we have 23 shown here, it's undisputed. I mean the opposition, Your 24 Honor, essentially tries to justify the transaction by 25 saying Mr. Parmar, the CEO of the transferor, is simply 1 paying himself what he was entitled to as the transferee.

2 Under New York Creditor Law 273-A, that's a self-3 interested transaction and it cannot -- it can never be made 4 in good faith. That's a bad-faith transaction in that the 5 CEO is favoring himself over creditors of the estate. And 6 the transaction fails under 273-A regardless of the issue of 7 solvency, irregardless.

8 THE COURT: Well, what if Mr. Parmar were actually 9 owed $6 million at the time of the condo purchase and paid 10 himself $6 million directly? Is that still on its face a 11 fraudulent transfer?

12 MR. NOLAN: Yes, it is. Because the way -- first 13 off, there's nothing in the books and records to indicate -- 14 I mean there's no W-2, there's no -- there's nothing in the 15 books and records that memorializes that this is a 16 compensation, that there was compensation paid to an 17 executive. I mean that would be in the Debtor's books and 18 records as a liability. It would be in the Debtor's books 19 and records as an expense that could be set off against 20 income.

21 I mean there would be any number of different 22 places in the Debtor's books and records if Mr. Parmar had 23 actually take that money as income that that would appear.
24 But there's nothing in the books and records to say that.
25 So --

1 THE COURT: No, I understand that. But it sounded
2 as if you were arguing even if -- capital I, capital F -- 3 even if Mr. Parmar was owed $6 million, buying the condo as 4 his form of compensation is on its face a fraudulent 5 transfer, whether actual or constructive, because there's an 6 absence of good faith.

7 MR. NOLAN: Yes. It's -- Your Honor, we would say 8 that that's an accurate statement of the law that an insider
9 payment is not in good faith regardless of whether it's paid 10 on account of an antecedent debt -- and I would instruct the 11 Court in my reply papers, I cited to the American Media v.
12 Bainbridge decision. And American Media, the president was 13 -- of the debtor was a gentleman by the name of Ruderman.
14 He paid himself to repay loans which he said that were 15 valid. And, in fact, in that case, you know, he submitted 16 evidence that there was a debt that was owed to him and he 17 took the money out to pay himself back.

18 And the court in that case said that the 19 requirement of good faith is not fulfilled through 20 preferential transfers of corporate funds to debtors -- to 21 directors, officers, or shareholders of a corporation. And 22 so -- and I cited a number of other cases in New York that 23 also stand for that proposition that that type of a 24 transaction violates 273-A on its face.

25 There's some other -- there's another case, Your

1 Honor, is the American -- let me just grab this. It was the 2 Atlantic Shipping Corp v. Chemical Bank decision, Your 3 Honor, 818 F.2d 240 (2d Cir.1987). And that case sets forth 4 that New York -- it's well settled in New York that the 5 general rule or the exception to the general rule that 6 repayment of an antecedent debt does not constitute fair 7 consideration when the recipient of the payment is a 8 corporate insider, i.e., an officer, director, or major 9 shareholder of the transferor corporation.

10 And that is admitted by the Defendant in the 11 opposition, Your Honor, at paragraph 32. In one paragraph, 12 Mr. Parmar and the Defendant admit that this is a self-13 interested transaction solely to benefit one person who is 14 the executive officer and director and majority shareholder 15 of both the transferor and the transferee.

16 So the motion, at least, Your Honor, from our 17 perspective under constructive fraud sets forth two paths
18 that would allow the Court to find that this is a 19 constructively fraudulent transfer even without addressing 20 the issue of solvency.

21 In fact, we thought, Your Honor, in submitting the 22 motion that even though we didn't have a solvency opinion
23 that we could rely on the tax records and the Debtor's books
24 and records, Your Honor. And I cited to a couple of cases 25 at page 22 of my motion that sets forth if a debtor has a

1 negative income for each year and is consecutively throwing 2 up negative losses like the Debtor was doing in this 3 case -- negative 12 million in 2015, negative 40 million for 4 net income in 2016, negative 20 million in 2017 -- and their 5 negative retained earnings were $133 million by the time
6 they filed the petition in bankruptcy, that that is evidence
7 of insolvency. Negative net operating losses are evidence
8 of insolvency under the Bankruptcy Code under the In re FHI 9 decision.

10 And it at least pushed the burden over to the 11 Defendants, Your Honor, to come forth with some credible
12 admissible evidence that what the Trustee was setting forth 13 that the Debtor was just racking up losses every year was 14 not the case. And nothing was put forth for an argument
15 that was submitted by any admissible evidence, Your Honor, 16 to give the Court some type of hesitation that the Debtor 17 was actually solvent or had some ability to pay its debts.

18 In fact, the opposition admits a separate 19 statement of fact, Your Honor, that there was a judgment 20 issued against the Defendant -- or the Debtor in 2015 for 21 about $200,000 and that debt was never paid by the Debtor.
22 It was a judgment out of the Southern District of Texas, and 23 it is outstanding as of today.

24 And there's a third path for finding a valid
25 constructive fraud against the -- under New York Debtor

1 Creditor Law, there's a third path for this Court to find or 2 grant the summary judgment if the Court finds that either at 3 the time or before the transfer there was a docketed
4 judgment against the Debtor and it was unsatisfied, then it 5 a per-se constructively fraudulent transfer.

6 THE COURT: Mr. Nolan, jumping from that because 7 that does segue whether you intended to or not to another 8 question the Court has which is it's really -- I view it as 9 a remedies question, and I think both sides touch on it on 10 the papers, which is for whom the recovery may be set aside.

11 There seems to be an issue raised at least by the 12 Defendant that, well, even if you're right, even if the 13 Plaintiff is right on its recoveries theories, the 14 conveyance can only be set aside to satisfy the 200,000 or 15 so dollars of creditors that existed at the time of the 16 purchase. Will you address that?

17 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor. I took the 18 Plaintiff's -- the Defendant's argument to mean that the 19 Trustee -- only that the party that docketed the judgment
20 would be entitled to make a claim of constructive fraud 21 under 273-A, that you actually had to be the creditor that 22 was chasing the debtor and was unpaid.

23 And I set forth in our reply, Your Honor, a number 24 of cases that specifically held that you don't need to be 25 the -- it seems to be it would be a standing issue is that

1 you don't need to be the creditor that actually docketed the 2 judgment to say that a transfer that occurred after your 3 judgment was docketed should be set aside.

4 And the reason I would submit to the Court that 5 our interpretation is more reasonable is, number one is the 6 opposition didn't set forth any case law to guide the Court 7 that the Court should read that statute so narrowly that 8 it's restricted to the judgment creditor. And number two 9 is, Your Honor, our reply set forth three cases, one of 10 them's in the Eastern District Bankruptcy Court New York
11 that set forth that a trustee could -- if the docketed 12 judgment exists at the time of the transfer, the trustee can 13 step into the shoes and can enforce that theory of liability
14 against the transferee and for good reason, Your Honor.

15 Those cases talk about the fact that it's the 16 purpose of 273-A is to stigmatize transfers that allow money
17 to go out of the estate when a valid judgment debtor -- 18 judgment creditor exists. It's just -- it's not something 19 under New York law that ever has been encouraged, and those 20 particular cases -- one of them which I believe is the 21 Akerman case, are all instances which the Trustee steps into 22 the shoes. And that's nothing inconsistent with cases that 23 are in front of the Court.

24 Trustees just by virtue of the fact of a petition 25 being filed in bankruptcy are always forced to step into the 1 shoes of a creditor to use state fraudulent conveyance law.

2 I mean, the predicant --

3 THE COURT: My question is not so much the 544(a) 4 imbued or hypothetical creditor status of the trustee. My 5 question is really -- and the reason I posed it is more of a 6 remedies question which is, if the allegation is the 7 transfer was fraudulent as to creditors who existed at the 8 time of the transfer, is the trustee's recovery limited to 9 the amount necessary to satisfy those creditors as opposed 10 to a transfer which is fraudulent as to existing and future 11 creditors and whether or not and to what extent there's 12 evidence in this record of who those future creditors may 13 be.

14 Again, I'll try to pose the question differently.
15 Set insolvency issues aside, if the debtor that made the 16 payments at the time the debtor made the payments owed 17 $250,000 to other creditors and chose not to make those 18 payments, those creditors should be satisfied from the 19 recovery of the asset transferred. So who is it here for 20 whom the trustee seeks recovery if it's more than just the 21 two creditors who existed or had claims or judgments at the 22 time of the condo purchase?

23 MR. NOLAN: I am trying to identify. I identify 24 for the Court two cases that came out of New York that 25 talked about a trustee stepping in and setting aside a

1 transfer to satisfy a judgment creditor that existed on the 2 -- had docketed a judgment. I don't believe either one of 3 those cases, Your Honor, made a distinction about limiting 4 or quantifying the amount of damages based on the judgment.
5 I think the bigger picture on those cases, Your Honor, and I 6 think it's borne out by the cases -- the case comments in 7 the case law is that the court stigmatizes the transfer 8 where legitimate creditors not only were owed money but 9 docketed a judgment and insiders went ahead and transferred 10 money around those creditors and those -- as long as the 11 trustee can prove that those creditors were never paid, that 12 the rationale is to set off the transfer.

13 I guess the Court could be in a situation at some 14 point if the Court agree with my interpretation that you 15 could have a transfer that's more deminimus -- I mean, a 16 transfer that's larger and you could have a deminimus 17 judgment and there could be, you know, an equity issue 18 about, well, geez, if it's only $1,000 judgment and the 19 transfer is so much larger, you know, what happens to the 20 difference if you set it aside.

21 I mean, in this case, Your Honor, general
22 unsecured creditors are not anywhere in the money right now.
23 In fact, the Court knows that secured creditors are owed
24 money in this bankruptcy estate. If the transfer is set 25 aside in this particular case for 5.6 million then there's

1 not going to be -- there's no issue of the creditors
2 receiving anything significant until the secured creditors
3 are paid. But the amount of money that comes in from the 4 trustee first goes to secured creditors and then unsecured 5 creditors.

6 So I don't think we would be forcing the Court
7 into some twisted fact pattern that, you know, a simple 8 $200,000 judgment that was recorded in 2015 is 9 disproportionate to the $5.6 million transfer that's before 10 the Court.

11 THE COURT: Right. Well, that -- but again, if 12 I'm understanding the plaintiff's papers correctly, you all 13 are arguing that the transfer was fraudulent as to existing 14 and future creditors. Is that right?

15 MR. NOLAN: Correct, Your Honor. The way the law 16 is set is it's not only if -- it leaves the -- if the 17 transfer, you know, violates the (indiscernible) that it's 18 to an indicter. It's not made for fair consideration. But 19 if the debtor's insolvent, it's fraudulent as to not only 20 existing creditors but future creditors.

21 THE COURT: All right. I do want to -- I have 22 some questions for Ms. Hadden so I'll come back to you, Mr.
23 Nolan, for rebuttal, but I do want to give Ms. Hadden a 24 chance to argue.

25 MS. HADDEN: Certainly, Your Honor. Maryann

1 Hadden. Your Honor, do you want to address your questions
2 first or do you want me to sort of free flow first and then 3 you can catch up to me as I got? How would you prefer?

4 THE COURT: It may be easier for me to start with 5 a question I have -- well, maybe a couple questions I have 6 and then I'll let you get to the flow of the argument that 7 you wanted to present it.

8 The first being, I don't have -- I don't seem to 9 have any summary judgment -- admissible summary judgment -- 10 evidence from the defendant.

11 MS. HADDEN: Part of that, Your Honor, was my time 12 frame issues. I had some issues getting in touch with my 13 client and getting documents into the format that they 14 should have been in for the Court. Rule 56(e) obviously 15 does provide the Court with a range of possible options in 16 that scenario, obviously including the opportunity to give 17 me an opportunity to make some of those documents -- and by 18 make, I don't mean create -- but, you know, for example, the 19 bank statements that I submitted. I submitted them as 20 redacted as to the payees and payors because it was a public
21 document. Obviously, I can submit the full unredacted 22 document to the Court with copy to counsel in a non-public, 23 non-ECF forum. I believe I have a certification from Chase 24 as to those records because they were obtained as part of 25 discovery in another matter. I may not so I need an

1 opportunity to get a discovery from Chase as to that.

2 As to the consulting agreement between FUH and 3 CHT, that being another obviously substantial exhibit from 4 the defendant's perspective, that's something where a 5 certification would presumably have to come from Mr. Parmar
6 as the manager of FUH. And obviously --

7 THE COURT: Those are the documents more to which 8 the Court's question goes because I don't see in the summary 9 judgment record an affidavit from Mr. Parmar saying that on 10 or about the dates of the transfers at issue I was owed 6 11 million, 5 million, 9 million, $12 million by the transfer 12 or entity and the debts that were owed to me were satisfied
13 in part, in full, through the purchase of the 2 River 14 Terrace condominium unit.

15 MS. HADDEN: That's correct, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: I don't see anything along those 17 lines.

18 MS. HADDEN: I understand. Part of that was 19 essentially an excess of caution on my part in that Mr.
20 Parmar obviously was a defendant in a indicted criminal case
21 so my effort is always to avoid any scenario in which I am 22 requesting affidavit from him for anything that could be 23 connected to that criminal matter. And so I incorrectly
24 relied on the burden being on the movant in a Rule 56 motion 25 in that it is up to the movant to establish that the

1 evidence is such that a reasonable jury could not return a
2 verdict for the opponent. But obviously I (indiscernible)
3 Parmar.

4 THE COURT: No, I'm not posing it as an error in 5 strategy of substance. I'm just -- in looking over the 6 summary judgment record that I have -- obviously, the Court 7 should only consider evidence which is in the form which 8 would be admissible at the time of trial and we do have a 9 series of objections from the trustee to the summary 10 judgment evidence that's been submitted whether due to lack 11 of affidavit or attestation from Mr. Parmar or from anyone 12 else who may have knowledge of the relevant fact.

13 And so for 56(e) purposes, if your response as 14 well under Rule 56(e), I need more time to gather the 15 documents -- if that's one -- if it's in the response, and, 16 two, if it's a question of, I need an affidavit -- the 17 defendant would like to submit an affidavit from Mr. Parmar 18 to attest to the facts that are asserted in the response, 19 however, due to other circumstances, he's unavailable to 20 submit an affidavit at this time, for some time, for 21 whatever period of time -- I'm not going to consider as 22 evidence evidence which is not in admissible form as Rule 56 23 requires.

24 MS. HADDEN: I understand that, Your Honor. And, 25 yes, it's -- so I sort of have a two-part response. As to

1 items such as the bank statements, I would be able to 2 provide certified copies for the Court. It just may require 3 a, you know, brief amount of time in order to do that.
4 However, as to an affidavit from Mr. Parmar because of the 5 extenuating circumstances os the criminal case, I'm in a 6 situation where he would be willing to provide an affidavit.
7 I would have the ability to obtain an affidavit but it puts 8 him in a very awkward position in terms of his criminal case
9 and his Fifth Amendments rights. I'm very hesitant to do 10 that.

11 THE COURT: So then -- and I don't know. We can 12 talk more specifically about the bank records if that's 13 something that the trustee is maintaining its objection to, 14 but in terms of the allegations that on or about such-and-15 such a date, I, Mr. Parmar, was owed 4 million, 8 million, 16 12 million, whatever the number is, there's just no evidence 17 in the record to support that. And the second prong of that 18 going back to something Mr. Nolan -- the trustee -- argued 19 in papers and this morning, even if that is the case or was 20 the case, there's nothing in the record indicating -- in 21 admissible or inadmissible form -- that Mr. Parmar or anyone 22 else took on the tax burden of actually receiving $6 million
23 or so in compensation back in December of 2015 and February 24 of 2016. So is 2 River asserting that in fact Mr. Parmar or 25 his entities received $5.5 million of compensation in 2015

1 and 2016 through the purchase of the condominium?

2 MS. HADDEN: Yes. And I cannot answer the 3 question as to whether or not 2 River filed tax returns
4 reflecting that because I don't know the answer honestly. I 5 should have looked at that --

6 THE COURT: Well, the argument --

7 MS. HADDEN: -- but I don't have (indiscernible)

8 THE COURT: Yes. The argument in the papers is 9 not that 2 Rivers received five-and-a-half-plus million 10 dollars of compensation. The argument in the papers is is 11 that Mr. Parmar or First United Health or one of his other 12 entities received $5.5 million of compensation through the 13 purchase of the condominium and if that's the case, 14 presumably there exists tax filing documents -- 1099, W2s, 15 whatever they may be -- which would actually exhibit that 16 the entities who are claiming that that was their 17 compensation actually then took on the tax and associated 18 burdens of claiming that compensation for state and federal 19 tax reporting purposes.

20 MS. HADDEN: Yes, Your Honor. That is correct.
21 And that, again, would be --

22 THE COURT: I don't see, for example --

23 MS. HADDEN: -- in the category of an item -- I 24 apologize.

25 THE COURT: No. But I don't see, even in

1 inadmissible form, you know, here's the 1099 that was issued
2 from the transfer or entity or the other form of tax 3 documents showing that in fact it expensed it out or applied 4 it to the compensation owed.

5 MS. HADDEN: That's correct. And that was 6 entirely an oversight on my part. It honestly didn't even 7 occur to me until Your Honor started speaking a moment ago 8 that that would have been another way of showing the way in 9 which the compensation was received and the fact that it was 10 acknowledged by Mr. Parmar and by his constellation of 11 entities -- using the word constellation advisedly.

12 THE COURT: No pun intended. But I --

13 MS. HADDEN: Yes. No pun intended.

14 THE COURT: I may have misunderstood. I thought 15 the defendant was arguing that, not only was Mr. Parmar or 16 were he and the entities associated at the time, actually 17 owed this money but for antecedent debt purposes, the 18 transfer -- the purchase of the condominium was actually 19 made to satisfy that antecedent debt because, like a 20 Broadway musical with no music, I guess it's academically, 21 theoretically interesting to argue the existence of 22 antecedent debt, but if the antecedent debt is not actually 23 satisfied by the transfer, what's the purpose of arguing 24 antecedent debt.

25 MS. HADDEN: No. Your Honor, did understand my

1 papers correctly. And frankly, I should have attached tax
2 returns as documents to them. It simply didn't occur to me 3 as being another document which I could have obtained in 4 order to support it. That should have occurred to me and 5 simply didn't. But the -- your understanding of my argument 6 was entirely accurate.

7 THE COURT: That is both existed and satisfied -- 8 that that's the argument.

9 MS. HADDEN: Correct, yes

10 THE COURT: All right. And so if I were to 11 conclude from the record before me that I in fact have no
12 admissible evidence of either the existence of an antecedent
13 debt at the time of December 2015 or February of 2016 and I 14 have no evidence -- no admissible evidence -- of the 15 satisfaction of such a debt, how does the defendant fend off 16 summary judgment?

17 MS. HADDEN: So summary judgment is sought by the 18 trustee under several different arguments. Obviously, 19 there's the claim -- I believe Mr. Nolan phrased it as a 20 textbook case of fraudulent conveyance -- that there was a 21 fraudulent intent involved in this transfer. And I do not 22 believe that the evidence before this Court, looking solely 23 at the admissible evidence, is such that a clear case of 24 fraudulent intent is made out.

25 I want to go back for just a moment to the

1 question that Your Honor had asked about 273(a) and I
2 believe, if I caught the question correctly, it was whether,
3 you know --- the plaintiff's argument was that a CEO could 4 never pay himself or obtain compensation for himself under 5 273(a) without it being a per se fraudulent transfer. And 6 again, if I understood that correctly, Mr. Nolan was 7 agreeing that was, you know, the logical extension of the 8 plaintiff's argument. Taking that down -- further down the 9 logical extension path, I don't believe that that complies 10 with the statute.

11 273(a) is very specific in that it applies -- and 12 this may very well be one of the reasons why the statute was 13 repealed by the legislature -- but it applies in a very 14 specific scenario where a conveyance has been made while 15 there is a pending judgment or action and it is fraudulent 16 just as to the plaintiff in that action -- that's the plain 17 language of the statute -- fraudulent as to plaintiff in 18 that action -- without regard to the actual intent of the 19 defendant, if, after final judgment, the defendant fails to 20 satisfy the judgment. So it's a very specific factual
21 scenario where there's a pending judgment or pending action 22 solely as to that particular plaintiff and in that 23 particular scenario, the regard of the -- there's no regard 24 given to the actual intent of the defendant.

25 However, extending the concept of 273(a) to say

1 that a CEO or other insider or corporate officer can never 2 by paid for a debt without it being a fraudulent transfer 3 extends that statute to the point where it become 4 unreasonable. Obviously, CEOs can be paid. Corporate 5 officers can be paid. The real question is whether or not 6 the business or the company is made insolvent by that 7 transfer or unable to pay the debt in, you know, looking 8 specifically at 273(a), that's outstanding in the action or 9 the judgment.

10 In this particular case, we're talking about a 11 debt that -- or a judgment that was approximately $200,000, 12 looking at the two -- the combination of the two judgments
13 put together, and a $5 million conveyance. The $5 million 14 conveyance, if you look at the bank records of the debtor, 15 did not render the debtor insolvent at that time, did not -- 16 it's essentially as if -- sort of analogizing it to more 17 normal person scenarios -- if you owe a $20 co-pay to your 18 doctor and you haven't paid for that $20 co-pay -- it's 19 still outstanding -- and then you go out and buy a house.
20 The fact that you've bought a house is not what is rendering 21 you unable to pay your $20 co-pay to your doctor. You just 22 haven't in your head put those two categories in the same -- 23 haven't put those two facts in the same category. You're 24 still able to pay the doctor, you just haven't gotten around 25 to doing it. It's the --

1 THE COURT: Well, but I think that that --

2 MS. HADDEN: -- defendant's argument that that's -

4 THE COURT: Right. But I think in that good 5 hypothetical, if I go out and buy a house, I'm putting the 6 house in my name so I've traded one asset for another asset.
7 The (indiscernible) here I think from the trustee's 8 standpoint is that CHT took $5.5 million and put an asset in 9 the name of another entity.

10 MS. HADDEN: It did.

11 THE COURT: So my doctor or my, you know, medical 12 provider can't look to me for that $20 anymore because if I 13 bought that house it's not in my name.

14 MS. HADDEN: That's a fair point. The defendant's 15 argument is that essentially because Parmar was the manager
16 of 2 Rivers Terrace and the sole human representative of 2 17 River Terrace that they're essentially equivalent. And he 18 was in a similar scenario with First United Health which was 19 the entity that had the consulting agreement with CHT.
20 Unfortunately --

21 THE COURT: Be careful how far that argument -- 22 that argument may go further than you want to --

23 MS. HADDEN: Exactly.

24 THE COURT: -- but, okay. Yeah.

25 MS. HADDEN: It may very well take me for me

1 further than I need to go.

2 THE COURT: Yeah.

3 MS. HADDEN: I did also want to touch briefly on - 4 - and I'm, you know, sort of derailing myself for a moment 5 here -- but on the question of the tax returns as evidence 6 of solvency or insolvency. And I believe the trustee has 7 fairly heavily relied on them as evidence of the debtor's
8 insolvency in this form that they were filed by FTI once FTI 9 came in as a consultant in eventually dealing with the 10 debtor's estate.

11 My contention as to tax returns which I may or may 12 not have managed to argue clearly enough in the motion is 13 that a tax return, again, is something that is a somewhat 14 malleable creature while still being fully admissible under 15 the income regulations and under the tax code. Again, 16 taking sort of a real-world example, if you purchase a 17 laptop for your business, you could deduct that entire 18 expense in one tax year which reduces the income of the 19 business by a larger amount or you could amortize that 20 expense over, I think, either two or three years -- and 21 again, I'm not an accountant so don't do your taxes by what 22 I'm saying -- but if you split that item up over a two- to 23 three-year period, again, complying with the tax laws while 24 doing so, it raises the income for each of those years.

25 So you can have the same exact set of financial

1 facts leading to two very different tax returns depending on 2 how you handle amortizable expenses. And the fact that the 3 debtors filed amended tax returns showing a loss as opposed 4 to the tax returns that were originally filed that not only 5 did not show a loss but wound up with the debtor owing taxes 6 and paying those taxes, gives two very different pictures of 7 solvency and I think that goes back to the Court's question
8 as to the fact that there was no actual opinion on solvency 9 presented.

10 So I think that the central issue before the Court 11 really is solvency and the question of solvency -- whether 12 or not in a summary judgment scenario specifically we're in 13 a situation where the evidence is such that a reasonable 14 jury could not return a verdict for the defendant. And I
15 don't think we are in that scenario. I think we're in a 16 scenario where there are significant questions as to 17 solvency in particular. There are questions as to whether 18 or not there was or was not fair consideration. There's 19 questions as to whether there was or was not an antecedent 20 debt. There are questions as to whether there was or was not 21 fraudulent intent.

22 Obviously, my answers to those questions are very 23 different from the plaintiff's answers to those questions.
24 But I think that we are in as scenario where really in order
25 to have an actual factual determination, you would need a

1 solvency opinion. You would need expert opinions. You
2 would need full discovery. You'd need someone with records 3 access on both sides so that both sides could argue that 4 issue for the Court. I don't think we're in that scenario.
5 And although we are in agreement on some of the most basic 6 facts, I don't think that the agreement on those most basic 7 facts is sufficient to bring the Court to the level where 8 you would be able to make a determination on a summary 9 judgment motion.

10 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Ms. Hadden.
11 Mr. Nolan, anything you want to add?

12 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor, just briefly.
13 Typically, when a fraudulent conveyance case comes before a 14 court, most of the time I'm arguing with my colleague over 15 whether or not what was given as consideration was 16 reasonably equivalent value. You know, there's opinions 17 going back and forth whether or not what was exchanged for 18 what was in the ballpark of the conveyance. Those can get 19 really fact intensive but that's not the fact pattern that's 20 in front of this Court.

21 I mean, the undisputed facts are that there's a 22 transfer in front of the Court for no consideration. None.
23 And we've submitted to the Court the case law in New York
24 that says transactions that are performed without any signs
25 of tangible consideration are presumptively fraudulent. I

1 cited to the Mendelsohn versus Jacobowitz decision, 394 B.R.
2 646. And it talks about interfamilial transfers without any 3 signs of tangible consideration as being presumably 4 fraudulent, and that's what's in front of the Court right 5 now.

6 I didn't force Mr. Parmar or the defendant to make 7 the argument in the opposition that they made, that this was 8 a self-interested transaction that benefited Mr. Parmar. I 9 just simply, in the reply brief, drew attention to the fact 10 that even if you accept Mr. Parmar or defendant's argument, 11 Your Honor, that somehow there was fair consideration 12 because there was an antecedent debt and what was 13 transferred satisfied that antecedent debt, that that 14 argument doesn't even make sense because what they've 15 submitted to the Court is, a) not admissible evidence, but 16 one of the documents says that FUH which is a separate 17 third-party corporation agreed to take stock, not to take 18 cash. They would have at best an equity interest and they'd 19 be line behind everybody else.

20 And then the argument that there's an antecedent
21 debt in the opposition, Your Honor -- it's based on a 22 formula, a formula that the defendant doesn't even give all 23 the different variables to the Court to allow the Court to 24 decide if there is -- even is an antecedent debt owed on the 25 issue of fair consideration.

1 I certainly appreciate some the arguments from the 2 bench just now about, well, what happens if Mr. Parmar
3 submitted an affidavit saying, you know, he was owed 6
4 million or 9 million and took the property in consideration
5 for that transfer. But I would submit to the Court that 6 we've submitted to the Court that the Ackerman versus 7 Ventimiglia case out of the Eastern District of New York.
8 It's at 362 B.R. 71. And in the Ackerman case, Your Honor, 9 the Court says that there has to be credible admissible 10 evidence to determine that there was, a) an amount owed 11 under a loan, and b) it has to be credible evidence as to 12 the amount of that debt and that submission of an affidavit 13 or oral testimony alone can't replace a finding of a 14 legitimate antecedent debt owed.

15 And I would think that that could give some 16 guidance to the Court or at least some comfort that if the 17 Court is so inclined to find that there hasn't been 18 admissible evidence of an antecedent debt and that there 19 hasn't been admissible evidence that an antecedent debt was 20 satisfied, that it's proper at this stage. And Your Honor, 21 we are in an -- unfortunately -- a difficult position with 22 this condominium given the confluence of factors here that 23 there is the sheriff's sale coming up and -- the opposition 24 didn't dispute that summary judgment motions, I guess, they 25 should be granted sparingly but they are proper where the 1 facts and circumstances are ripe.

2 It saves everybody time and money. We've got a 3 property right now where the initial judgment was 200,000.
4 Now it's $450,000 on behalf of the homeowner's association.
5 The trustee submits that there is clear evidence in front of 6 this Court that -- of both the intentional fraudulent 7 conveyance and the constructive fraudulent conveyance. And 8 there's just not a reason to kick the can down the road any 9 further. Thank you, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. All right. I 11 -- Court appreciates the arguments from both sides and the 12 status update from counsel for the condominium association.
13 I am not prepared to rule today. I want to give further 14 consideration to both the papers and what's been argued this 15 afternoon. Having also a fairly full docket next week, I 16 cannot get to a ruling before your current sale date. I 17 would recommend that the parties continue their discussions 18 about either a further adjournment of that sale date or the 19 protocol under where the property can be monetized while the 20 Court is considering the adversary proceeding in general and 21 the summary judgment motion in particular. I will give you 22 all for your timing purposes -- Ms. Mills, can we use 23 February 9th at three o'clock at least as a tentative 24 ruling?

25 CLERK: Hold one second, Judge.

1 THE COURT: Any time.

2 CLERK: Hold on one second. We can use two -- can 3 we go to 2:30 because you already have pre-trials on that 4 day.

5 THE COURT: All right. So February 9th at 2:30.
6 Ms. Mills, if you'll docket notice of an adjournment. This 7 is -- the intention of the Court would be to give you all a 8 ruling on this motion on February 9th at 2:30. If for some 9 reason the Court's not in a position to rule at that time,
10 we'll notify you all in advance. But that would a ruling 11 conference only. That's not any further argument. February 12 9th at 2:30.

13 MS. HADDEN: Thank you.

14 MR. NOLAN: (indiscernible)

15 THE COURT: All right. Very well --

16 MR. PITTINSKY: Your Honor, speaking for the 17 condominium, I will consult with the board, advise them of 18 that control ruling date and then I will advise Mr. Nolan
19 and Ms. Hadden by email on what the outcome of that is. It 20 may take me a day or two to -- both of them to get the board 21 together to get an answer on that. And Ms. Hadden, I look 22 forward to speaking offline on the state court case that you 23 say you've commenced. All right?

24 MS. HADDEN: Yeah. So I'll give you a call as 25 soon we get off here.

1 THE COURT: All right. And again, this is 2 redundant to what I've already said, but if the parties are 3 amenable to a sale protocol, the Court would certainly be 4 open to establishing the procedure under which the unit is 5 monetized and the parties fight over who gets the money.

6 All right. So then we'll be -- Ms. Mills, do we 7 have any other on the docket for this morning on the ten 8 o'clock call?

9 CLERK: That's it, Judge.

10 THE COURT: All right. So then until February 9th
11 at 2:30 p.m. Again, the Court appreciates the papers 12 submitted as well as the arguments of the parties this 13 morning.

14 MS. HADDEN: Thank you, Your Honor.

15 MR. NOLAN: (indiscernible), Your Honor.

16 MR. PITTINSKY: Thank you.

17 THE COURT: The Court will therefore be in recess
18 until one o'clock and we'll go off the record. Good day, 19 all.

20 AUTOMATED VOICE: We're sorry. Your conference is 21 ending now. Please hang up.

22 (Whereupon these proceedings were concluded at

CLERK: Start with 20-8051, Ehrenberg v. Elena Sartison, et al.

THE COURT: All right, let me just ask in terms of the status of the adversary proceeding. Has any forward progress been made toward resolution?

MR. NOLAN: Your Honor, Jeff Nolan appearing on behalf of the plaintiff. Your Honor, there has been no further progress with the defendant, 2 River Terrace. They had made it clear back in early December that there was no avenue to get this resolved, short of litigating it. I have continued to work with the board of residential managers to try and work through some of the outstanding obligations and basically hold the matter in abeyance while the Court had the time to look at the underlying papers.

My understanding is the sheriff's sale was adjourned from the date, which was in the end of January, to a timeframe in the end of February.

THE COURT: All right. Any disagreement on the status then of either the sheriff's sale or the resolution efforts? All right.

Well, then I'm going to move -- this is Judge Trust. I'm going to moving to the ruling conference portion of this hearing then this afternoon in Adversary Proceeding 20-8051. This will be the Court's ruling in narrative form

1 as authorized under Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedures 2 7052.

3 This adversary proceeding presents a number of 4 core proceedings under Title 28, Section 157(b) and 1334.
5 This Court has jurisdiction to hear and determine this 6 adversary proceeding under the standing orders of reference 7 in effect in the Eastern District of New York.

8 In terms of procedural background, the plaintiff
9 brings this action in his capacity as the liquidating
10 trustee of the Orion Healthcorp, Inc. and related debtor
11 entities which had originally filed multiple bankruptcy
12 proceedings, administratively consolidated under Case No.
13 18-71748. I'll talk more about that debtor group in a 14 couple of minutes.

15 This adversary proceeding speaks to recover, among 16 other things, to recover alleged fraudulent transfers under 17 the Federal Bankruptcy Code and the New York debtor and 18 creditor laws concerning the purchase of a multimillion-19 dollar condominium unit.

20 The plaintiff trustee had moved for default
21 judgment against the defendant entity, 2 River Terrace 12J, 22 LLC. At a hearing on that motion to default judgment, the 23 Court denied that motion given the appearance, albeit late, 24 by the defendant, but that the issues appeared to the Court 25 under Rule 1001 and otherwise to be better addressed on

1 summary judgment.

2 The Court, therefore, set a briefing and 3 submission schedule with respect to summary judgment, held 4 oral argument on January 21st of this year, and then 5 scheduled this ruling conference for today.

6 On the request of the plaintiff for summary
7 judgment, the following facts are either stipulated or there 8 is no genuine issue as to their truth for purposes of this 9 motion. The sources of the facts that the Court is about to 10 recite are contained in the summary judgment record and are 11 drawn from the declaration of Timothy J. Dragelin at then 12 case docket no. 2, which is part of this summary judgment
13 record, the affidavits of Jeffrey Nolan and Daniel Jones, 14 along with the parties' joint Rule 56 statement of 15 undisputed facts -- those can be found at docket items 44, 16 45 and 55 -- as well as certain admissions made by this 17 defendant in this adversary proceeding.

18 And for benefit of the record, when I refer to 19 this defendant, I'm referring to 2 River Terrace as there 20 are multiple defendants in this adversary proceeding, but 21 this summary judgment is only directed as 2 River Terrace.

22 The plaintiff is noted as the liquidating trustee
23 under a liquidating trust agreement which was established 24 under a plan of reorganization confirmed by this Court for 25 multiple debtor entities. Those debtor entities which are

1 the subject of the plan and, therefore, governed under 2 liquidating trust agreement were a consolidated series of 3 companies that were aggregated through a number of 4 acquisitions.

5 The business practice of those entities that did 6 operate were in the healthcare space primarily providing 7 back office revenue and practice management for various 8 physician groups. One of those entities, known as 9 Constellation Healthcare Technologies, which I'll refer to 10 as CHT and is part of the debtor group, is the focus of this 11 adversary proceeding. The debtor, CHT, maintained a 12 checking account at M&T Bank during the relevant time.

13 The defendant, 2 River Terrace entity, is an 14 active domestic limited liability company formed under New 15 York law on December 23rd of 2015. On that same date, Paul 16 Parmar -- the gentleman referred to as Paul Parmar, who at 17 the time was the CEO of CHT, instructed the chief financial 18 officer of CHT, a gentleman called Sam Zaharis, to wire 19 transfer $545,000 from CHT's bank account at M&T to the 20 account of a law firm -- to the account of Lustrin Tetelman, 21 LLP, who were attorneys at that time acting in the capacity 22 on behalf of the owners of the condominium unit 12J located 23 at the complex known as 2 River Terrace in New York City.

24 At that time, the owners of that condominium unit, 25 which I'll refer to during this ruling as the condo or the

1 condo unit, were Clodagh Bowyer Greene and Elliott Greene,
2 and I'll refer to those Greenes as the sellers. The purpose 3 of the $545,000 wire transfer was as a down payment toward 4 the purchase of the condo, and I'll refer to that as 5 transfer one.

6 On or about February 19th of 2016, Mr. Parmar
7 instructed the CFO of CHT to make a second transfer; that 8 was in the amount of $5,058,408.81, again, from a CHT bank
9 account at M&T Bank; I'll refer to that as transfer two.
10 Transfer two was directed to the lawyers' trust account held 11 at the law firm of Robinson & Brog; that transfer went 12 directly into escrow.

13 Simultaneously, a closing occurred on the purchase
14 and sale of the condo, again, February 19, 2016. On Mr.
15 Parmar's instructions, the funds comprising transfers one 16 and two, which I'll now collectively refer to as the 17 transfers, were used to pay the purchase price for the 18 condo.

19 The sellers, the Greenes, are also defendants in 20 this adversary proceeding, but this motion is not directed 21 at them. But at the closing, they conveyed title to the 22 condo unit, not to CHT, but to the defendant newly created 23 entity, 2 River Terrace. At all times relevant to this 24 litigation, 2 River Terrace has been managed by Mr. Parmar.
25 Given the undisputed facts, there is no doubt of a close

1 connection between CHT, Mr. Parmar, and 2 River Terrace.

2 Subsequent to closing, Mr. Parmar occupied the 3 unit with Elena Sartison, who is also a defendant. The 4 papers refer to Ms. Sartison as her girlfriend; that status
5 for purposes of this ruling is not relevant. The defendant, 6 though, has -- the defendant, 2 River Terrace, has alleged 7 that subsequent to placing title in the name of 2 River 8 Terrace, the condo was in fact used for the conduct of 9 business by one or more employees or officers of one or more 10 debtor entities, including CHT. There is, however, no 11 summary judgment competent summary judgment evidence to that 12 alleged fact.

13 What is also undisputed is that prior to each of 14 the two transfers, at the time of each of the two transfers, 15 and at the time of the closing of the condo purchased, there 16 was no business relationship between 2 River Terrace and the 17 debtor, CHT, not before the closing, not on the date of 18 either transfer, and not thereafter.

19 In addition, prior to, at the time of each of the 20 transfers, at the time of the closing of the condo purchased 21 and for any relevant period of time after, CHT owed no money
22 to 2 River Terrace. There was no business, there was no 23 debt owed to 2 River Terrace by CHT. Thus, as measured at 24 the time of each of the transfers and at the time of the 25 closing of the condo purchase, defendant 2 River Terrace

1 received property of debtor worth approximately $5.6
2 million; CHT received nothing in return. Thus, there was no
3 consideration for the transfers.

4 Subsequent to the closing of the condo purchase, 2
5 River Terrace defaulted in paying certain taxes, utilities
6 and common charges starting in February of 2018. That 7 failure constituted a breach of the covenants of the 8 condominium complex and resulted in the residential board of 9 managers filing suit and then obtaining a judgment against 2
10 River Terrace in the original amount of just over $200,000.
11 Interest has continued to accrue on that judgment, and the 12 board of managers has sought to execute upon it. As of 13 October 2020, the outstanding debt -- the outstanding amount 14 owing under that judgment put it approximately $370,000.

15 Included within the records made a part of this 16 summary judgment record are two transactions from 2015. One 17 was a transaction in which CHT acquired an entity in 18 September of 2015 called Phoenix Health, LLC, for $42 19 million; summary judgment record indicates that Phoenix was 20 a fictitious entity with no business assets or employees.
21 Almost simultaneous with the Phoenix acquisition, CHT
22 acquired another entity called North Star Acquisitions, LLC, 23 that time for $18 million; that entity, too, had no assets, 24 no business, no employees, and for all purposes, was a 25 fictitious entity.

1 Also included in the financial records made a part 2 of the summary judgment record are year-end tax returns of 3 2015 where the consolidating tax reporting group, referred 4 in this litigation to as the debtors; that consolidated
5 federal income tax reflected aggregate net operating losses
6 of over $11 million for the operating group and a cumulative
7 net income of over $95 million. Summary judgment record, 8 however, does not include specific financial records solely 9 as to the CHT debtor at the time of either transfer or the 10 closing of the condo.

11 The first issue then with respect to summary 12 judgment concerns whether or not the plaintiff trustee has 13 met his burden to establish entitlement to summary judgment
14 as a matter of law on his claim under New York DCL Section 15 273, arguing that the transfers and the placing of title to 16 the condo in 2 River Terrace was a constructively fraudulent 17 transfer under New York law.

18 This Court has determined, based upon the 19 competent summary judgment, that the trustee is entitled to 20 judgment as a matter of law because the transfers, each of 21 them, and the closing of title to 2 River Terrace were made 22 without fair consideration when CHT either was or was 23 rendered insolvent by those transfers. I'll talk in more 24 detail about those issues.

25 The trustee has also established as a matter of

1 law entitlement to judgment under New York DCL Section 273-2 a, because a judgment creditor existed prior to each of the 3 transfers and the closing of the title and the transfers
4 were made without fair consideration.

5 Turning to the first DCL 273. As many courts, 6 including the Second Circuit at In re. Sharp International, 7 403 F.3d 43 at 53 (2d Cir. 2005) and Judge Strong of this 8 Court in In re. Allou Distributors, 446 B.R. 32, 61 to 63
9 (2011), as those courts and many others have held under DCL 10 Section 273, a conveyance made by a debtor is deemed 11 constructively fraudulent if it was made without fair 12 consideration and the transferer is insolvent or is rendered 13 insolvent by the transfer.

14 The undisputed evidence before the Court,
15 undisputed competent evidence is that CHT received no
16 consideration and, therefore, certainly no fair
17 consideration for paying of $5.5 million, transferring $5.5
18 million for the purchase of a condo to which title was taken 19 in the name of 2 River Terrace and did not become property
20 of CHT.

21 Since CHT did not receive ownership of the condo 22 or receive any other consideration for either transfer, the 23 question then is what did CHT receive in exchange for the 24 transfers. As Section 272-a of the DCL provides, fair 25 consideration exists when a fair equivalent is received in

1 exchange for the property transferred and fair consideration 2 can include the satisfaction of an antecedent debt; that is 3 the prong argued by 2 River Terrace. It asserts that Mr.
4 Parmar was owed millions of dollars by CHT at the time of 5 the transfers and the condo closing. That assertion, 6 however, is an assertion; it's made without any evidentiary 7 support and thus, failed to raise a genuine issue of 8 material fact as to consideration.

9 The specific allegation made by 2 River Terrace is 10 that the debtor, CHT, had entered into one or more 11 consulting agreements with a Parmar-controlled entity called 12 First United Healthcare through which the debtor CHT
13 received the services and Mr. Parmar exchanged for a fixed 14 annual salary of $650,000 and a bonus based upon a multiple 15 of EBITDA. They assert -- 2 River Terrace asserts that the 16 transfers were made, the condo purchase was made as a result 17 of funds still owed to Mr. Parmar for his services.

18 However, the plaintiff objected to each of the 19 documents provided by the defendant to support this 20 assertion, and there is no affidavit provided to support any 21 of those assertions. But the plaintiff moved to strike all 22 the defendants' exhibits provided in support of this 23 assertion as to consideration for lack of foundation, lack 24 of authenticity and based upon hearsay; see docket item 56.

25 Those objections were discussed at the hearing and

1 all of those objections are granted. In fact, 2 River
2 Terrace acknowledged at the oral argument that they did not 3 provide any affidavit or any other factual substantiation
4 from 2 River Terrace, from Mr. Parmar, or from anyone else
5 who could authenticate the documents that were provided 6 and/or testify to the truthfulness of the assertions of the 7 existence of an antecedent debt being owed to Mr. Parmar or 8 to CHT or to any other entity that had any relationship -- 9 that then had any relationship to the transfers or the condo 10 purchase.

11 Almost as critical and, therefore, almost as fatal
12 is that there is no evidence in the summary judgment record 13 either that even if an antecedent debt existed, that that 14 debt was satisfied in whole or in part by either of the 15 transfers or the taking of title to the condo in the name of 16 2 River Terrace.

17 It's well-established law that when a party argues 18 facts to support an assertion that a genuine issue of 19 material fact remains and, therefore, summary judgment
20 should be denied, that party in opposing summary judgment
21 must provide competent evidence to establish the counter-22 narrative.

23 As the Second Circuit long ago held in Dressler v.
24 MV Sandpiper, 331 F.2d 130 (1964) and as remains the case 25 today, these requirements of evidentiary support are

1 mandatory for, quote, "only in this way may the underlying 2 objective of the summary judgment procedure to discover 3 whether one side has no real support for its version of the 4 fact being satisfied."

5 Specifically, in terms of the rule mandate, 6 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 56(c)(4) states that an 7 affidavit or declaration used to support or oppose a summary
8 judgment motion must be made on personal knowledge, set out 9 facts that would be admissible in evidence and show that the 10 affiant or declarant is competent to testify on the matter
11 stated, generically referred to as competent summary 12 judgment evidence.

13 Here, while the defendant, 2 River Terrace, offers 14 an alternate explanation for the transactions at issue, 15 which it claims raises a triable issue of fact, defendant
16 has simply failed to provide any competent summary judgment 17 evidence. When the party offers facts to support its 18 contention it asserted that an issue of fact remains to 19 oppose summary judgment, they must comply with Rule 56(c).
20 Because there was no affidavit submitted by 2 River Terrace 21 authenticating or laying an evidentiary foundation for any 22 of the facts alleged or documents provided, then this Court
23 may and does under Rule 56(e)(2) treat plaintiffs 24 substantiated facts in support of summary judgment, 25 particularly concerning lack of consideration, as

1 undisputed.

2 Therefore, plaintiff has established as a matter
3 of law that CHT received no consideration for either of the 4 transfers or the closing of the title to the condo being 5 take -- at closing title to the condo being taken to 2 River
6 Terrace while using CHT's funds to do so.

7 While each of the transfers went through lawyers'
8 trust accounts, there is -- that raises no issue of fact, 9 nor concern of law. There's no dispute that each of the 10 transfers were expressly made and earmarked for the purchase 11 of the condo.

12 The issue then is what evidence is before the 13 Court of CHT being or being rendered insolvent at the time
14 of each of the transfers and the closing of the condo
15 purchase. As the Second Circuit held in 2005 in Sharp
16 International and as Judge Strong also held in Allou
17 Distributors, under New York DCL Section 273, there is a 18 long-recognized presumption of insolvency where the debtor 19 makes the conveyance without fair consideration.

20 The Court would also refer the parties to USA 21 United Fleet, 559 B.R. 41 at 60 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2016), In 22 re. Ventimiglia (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2007) 362 B.R. 71 at 83, 23 and Feist v. Druckerman (2d Cir. 1934), 70 F.2d 333 at 334.
24 Case law both at the federal level and the state level under 25 New York DCL 273 makes clear that when the presumption of

1 insolvency arises, as it does here, the burden then shifts 2 to the transferee to come forward with proof of the 3 transferor's insolvency.

4 Here again, 2 River Terrace has provided no
5 competent summary judgment evidence and specifically, no
6 competent summary judgment evidence that would be adequate 7 to rebut this presumption of insolvency. Therefore, the 8 trustee has established as a matter of law that CHT was 9 insolvent or was rendered insolvent by each of the transfers 10 on the date of each of the transfers and at the date of the 11 closing of the condo purchase; therefore, summary judgment 12 is proper in favor of the plaintiff trustee as a matter of 13 law on the DCL 273 constructive fraudulent transfer claim.

14 With respect to DCL 273-a, as many courts,
15 including Lyman Commerce Solutions v. Lung, 2015 U.S.
16 District Lexis 51447 (S.D.N.Y. 2015) has held, any 17 conveyance made without fair consideration when the person 18 making it is a defendant in an action for money damages or a 19 judgment in such action has been docketed against him, is 20 fraudulent as to the plaintiff in that action without regard 21 to the actual intent of the defendant if, after the final 22 judgment has been entered, the defendant fails to satisfy 23 that judgment.

24 The stipulated facts in the summary judgment
25 record reflects that on December 16 of 2015, a final

1 judgment was issued against all of the Orion Healthcorp., 2 Inc. debtors, including CHT in the United States District
3 Court for the Southern District of Texas in an amount in 4 excess of $200,000. That litigation existed prior to and 5 resulted in a final judgment being entered prior to the 6 closing of the condo purchase, and that litigation was 7 pending prior to the date of each of the transfers.

8 A proof of claim for that judgment was filed in 9 the main bankruptcy case of CHT and it remains unsatisfied.
10 Facts particular to this judgment are stipulated in the 11 joint statement of undisputed fact at docket item 15; on the 12 facing page, first page of that stipulation is found the 13 definition of the debtors from the Chapter 11 cases, which 14 starts with Orion Healthcorp., Inc. and then Constellation
15 Healthcare Technologies, Inc., and a number of other debtor 16 entities were included in the definition of debtors.

17 At stipulated fact No. 35, the parties agreed as 18 follows: On December 16, 2015, the Southern District of 19 Texas issued a judgment in the amount of $194,185 against 20 the debtors in favor of former employees, Jack McBride and 21 Alan Nottingham for unpaid deferred compensation. The 22 judgment was filed as a proof of claim in Case No. 8-18-23 71748 and assigned claim no. 10,001. The filed proof of 24 claim remains unsatisfied, so this is an additional basis
25 upon which is the matter of law the trustee has established

1 his entitlement to summary judgment to satisfy each of the 2 transfers and the closing of title to the condo in the name
3 of 2 River Terrace because each of the transfers and the 4 closing of title of the condo were constructively fraudulent 5 under DCL 273 and DCL 273-a and avoidable as to present and 6 future creditors.

7 Each of the transfers and the taking of title to 8 the condo in the name of 2 River Terrace are avoided, the 9 plaintiff is entitled to have all legal and equitable title 10 to the condo transferred to him by 2 River Terrace under 11 Bankruptcy Code Section 544 and 550, along with, as 12 requested, all associated keys and access cards.

13 I'm going to turn briefly to the trustee's claim
14 under New York DCL Section 276, which provides for a 15 conveyance which is made with actual intent to hinder, delay
16 or defraud, to be satisfied both as to present and future
17 creditors as discussed in MarketXT Holdings, 376 B.R. 390
18 and Allou Distributors.

19 Many courts which have looked at an actual fraud 20 claim under DCL 276 do so by analyzing certain badges of 21 fraud to establish fraudulent intent, which include: (1)
22 gross inadequacy of consideration; (2) a close relationship 23 between transferor and transferee; (3) the transferor's 24 insolvency at or as a result of the conveyance; (4) a 25 questionable transfer not in the ordinary course of 1 business; (5) secrecy in the transfer; and (6) retention of 2 control of the property by the transferor after the 3 conveyance.

4 Uncontroverted here is that one of the sellers of 5 the condo was Elliott Greene. His brother, Mitchell Greene, 6 is a lawyer at Robinson & Brog or was at the relevant time,
7 and that at all relevant times, that law firm represented
8 CHT and a number of Mr. Parmar's entities. More 9 specifically, Mitchell Greene represented CHT in the sale
10 transaction of this condo, and Robinson & Brog law firm 11 provided substantial legal services to CHT and various 12 Parmar-related entities, including the debtors, whose 13 definition the Court had just referred to.

14 It's clear that Mr. Parmar retained convention
15 benefit and use of the condo post-closing and as noted, CHT 16 received no consideration for the transfers or the closing 17 of title. Thus, badges (1), (2) and (4) are satisfied on 18 the summary judgment record. However, for purposes of 19 summary judgment, the trustee has not met his burden of 20 proof as to badges (3), (5) and (6), retention of control of 21 the condo was not by the transferor or CHT, but was, in fact 22 and is argued by the trustee, Mr. Parmar. The plaintiff has 23 not established secrecy in this transaction as a matter of 24 law.

25 With respect to insolvency, while the case law is

1 clear that it is presumed in a constructive fraudulent 2 transaction, parties have not provided briefing and the 3 Court is not prepared to conclude that insolvency should be 4 presumed in an actual fraud transaction and, in fact, an 5 actual fraud transaction can be found in the absence of 6 insolvency.

7 But here, there's no independent evidence of 8 insolvency as to CHT in and of itself at the time of each of 9 the transfers. Thus, while insolvency has been demonstrated 10 for purposes of constructive fraud based upon the 11 presumption, the Court is not prepared to find insolvency 12 has been established for purposes of actual fraud.

13 With respect to intent to hinder, delay or defraud 14 creditors, this Court has limited evidence from which to 15 draw an inference as to Mr. Parmar's intent at the time he 16 authorized or directed each of the transfers to be made and 17 for title to be closed into 2 River Terrace, that the Court 18 is determined not to grant summary judgment on this record 19 on the actual intent claim.

20 The Court has also not today reached the 21 plaintiff's other request for relief as against 2 River
22 Terrace for a monetary judgment in the amount of a judgment 23 lien held by the board or the request for attorneys' fees.

24 The Court is, therefore, granting partial summary 25 judgment, avoiding the transfers, each of the transfers and

1 the closing of title into 2 River Terrace as constructively
2 fraudulent. Plaintiff is entitled to have all legal and 3 equitable title to the condo transferred to him by 2 River
4 Terrace under Bankruptcy Code Sections 544 and 550, along 5 with all associated keys and access cards.

6 As you know and I'll direct that your office 7 prepare a form of partial judgment, please submit that to -- 8 circulate it each of the defendants prior to submission to 9 the Court. I'd like to get that judgment in as quickly as 10 possible, so we'll say -- today is Tuesday, Monday is a non-11 business day, so by Wednesday of next week, that would be 12 February 17th. I'd like to have the judgment submitted by 13 the Court, so you should get that out by the end of the day 14 tomorrow, if at all possible, so that the parties have at 15 least two full business days to review it before submission 16 to the Court.

17 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: All right. With respect to proceeding
19 to next steps, I'm going to hold an adjourned -- a further 20 adjourned pretrial conference on March 9th at 2:00 p.m. At 21 that point, we can discuss the further charting of this 22 litigation for a trial on the remaining issues.

23 So, Mr. Nolan, if your office will docket notice
24 of adjournment and serve that on all defendants, March 9th 25 at 2:00 p.m.

1 MR. NOLAN: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you.

2 THE COURT: All right. That will then conclude 3 the ruling conference and the pretrial conference in 20-4 8051. The Court will be in recess and we'll go off the 5 record. Thank you.

6 MR. NOLAN: Thank you, Your Honor.

(4672); Phoenix Health, LLC (0856); MDRX Medical Billing, LLC (5410); VEGA Medical Professionals, LLC (1055); Allegiance Consulting Associates, LLC (7291); Allegiance Billing & Consulting, LLC (7141); New York Network Management, LLC (7168). The corporate headquarters and the mailing address for the Debtors listed above is 1715 Route 35 North, Suite 303, Middletown, NJ 07748.

Comes now Plaintiff, Howard M. Ehrenberg In His Capacity As Liquidating Trustee Of Orion Healthcorp, Inc., Et Al., and Defendant 2 River Terrace Apartment 12J, LLC, with respect to the Plaintiff's Motion For Summary Judgment, Or In The Alternative Summary Adjudication, and submit a Joint Statement of Facts:

I. Purchase of the Condominium Unit

	Plaintiff's Statement of Fact	Defendant's Response in Reply
1.	The Debtors were a consolidated enterprise of several companies aggregated through a series of acquisitions which operated in the healthcare sector primarily in revenue and practice management for physician practices. (See Declaration of Timothy J. Dragelin, ¶11, Dkt No. 2, Case no. 8-18-71748-ast)	Not Disputed.
2.	Defendant is an active Domestic Limited Liability Company formed under the laws of the State of New York on December 23, 2015. Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶2; See NYS Department of State, Division of Corporations certificate, attached as Exhibit B	Not Disputed.
3.	The Debtor's Constellation Healthcare Technologies maintained a checking account at Manufacturer's Trust Bank, Account #-68132 See Affidavit of Daniel Jones, ¶4; See M&T Bank Statements, attached to Affidavit of Daniel Jones as Exhibit A & B.	Not Disputed.

Plaintiff's Statement of Fact	Defendant's Response in Reply
4. On December 23, 2015, Paul Parmar, the chief executive officer ("CEO") of the Debtor CHT ("Parmar"), instructed Sam Zaharis, the chief financial officer ("CFO") of Debtor to transfer $545,000 by wire from the Debtor's M&T Bank account, to the account of Lustrin Tetelman, LLP., attorneys for Clodagh Bowyer Greene and Elliott Greene (the "Sellers") See Affidavit of Daniel Jones, ¶ 4 referencing Emails dated December 23, 2015 attached to the Affidavit of Daniel Jones, as Exhibit 4.	Not Disputed.
5. The Seller, Elliott Greene, is the brother of Mitchell Greene, Esq, a partner with Robinson Brog. Mitchell Greene along with his son Adam Greene, also an attorney at Robinson Brog, represented Parmar in acquiring the Condominium Unit. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶5; See emails attached as Exhibit 4, to the Affidavit of Daniel Jones.	Not Disputed.
6. On December 29, 2015, Parmar's instructed his identity not be revealed by instructing that "Salil and Kiran Sharma" be reflected as the purchasers of the Condominium Unit (as evidenced in the email exchange dated between Parmar, Adam Greene, and Zaharis). See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶7; See Exhibit 4, attached to the Affidavit of Daniel Jones.	Disputed that Parmar was attempting to hide his identity; further Defendant objects to the fact as having no relevance to any material issue as Salil and Kiran Sharma were not named as purchasers and are not listed on the title or deed.

Plaintiff's Statement of Fact	Defendant's Response in Reply
7. Parmar and Sam Zaharis ("Zaharis") orchestrated the purchase of the Condominium Unit with funds of the Debtor out of the Debtor's bank account maintained at M&T Bank. After the deposit for $545,000 was wired, the remaining balance of the purchase price and closing costs in the amount of $5,058,408.81 were wired out of the Debtor's M&T Bank account on February 19, 2016. See Affidavit of Daniel Jones, ¶5; See Exhibits 1, 2, and 5, attached to the Affidavit of Daniel Jones; See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶6	Not Disputed that the funds were wired from the Debtor's M&T bank account at Parmar's direction; objection to the term "orchestrated."
8. The monies were wired into the Debtor's IOLA account at Robinson Brog and on the same day a cashier's check cut to the Sellers, Elliott Greene and Clodagh Bowyer. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶6; See Exhibit D, to the Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan.	Not Disputed that the two transfers took place as described; Defendant contends that the escrow account held other (non-CHT) Parmar funds on that same date so that it cannot be said that the funds for the cashier's check originated from the M&T bank wire.
9. Upon purchasing the Condominium Unit in 2016, Parmar occupied the unit with his girlfriend, Defendant Elaine Sartison. , which memorialize Parmar's discussions with Douglas Elliman Property Management Company and his admission he was occupying the Condominium Unit. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶8; See Exhibit E, emails dated April 12, 2018, attached to the Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan.	Not Disputed; Defendant however adds that on a routine basis business was also conducted at the Condominium by employees and officers of the Debtor and of CC Capital.

10.	Parmar asserts he is the manager of Defendant, 2 River Terrace Apartment 12J, LLC. See Objection to Motion for Entry of Default Judgment [Dkt No. 31]; pg. 4.	Not Disputed.

II. Defendant Conducted No Business With The Debtor, Was Owed No Debt By the Debtor, Yet Received Property of the Debtor worth 5.6 MM

Plaintiff's Statement of Fact		Defendant's Response in Reply
11.	According to the books and records of the Debtor, Defendant performed no service and had no business dealings with the Debtor. See Affidavit of Daniel Jones, ¶6	Disputed in that after the Condominium purchase, the Apartment was used for business meetings and business social functions with outside executives and also CHT / Orion Executives on a regular basis.
12.	Parmar was the Chief Executive Officer of the Debtor, Constellation Healthcare Technologies, Inc. See Objection to Motion for Entry of Default Judgment [Dkt No. 31]; pg. 4	Not Disputed.
13.	The Debtor's books and records evidence no preexisting debt owed to the Defendant See Affidavit of Daniel Jones, ¶6	Not Disputed as to Defendant 2 River; Defendant references the employment agreement and Consulting Agreement with respect to pending payments and existing debt owed to Defendant's manager Parmar.
14.	The Debtor's records evidence no antecedent debt satisfied as a result of the	Not Disputed as to Defendant 2 River; Defendant references the employment

IV. Defendant Failed To Pay For Ongoing Taxes, Utilities and Common Area Costs Since February 2018 Resulting in A Judgment in Favor of The Residential Board in Excess of $200,000

Plaintiff's Statement of Fact	Defendant's Response in Reply
18. Defendant was in default under the covenants with the Residential Board by not paying for taxes, utilities and common charges from February 2018, forward. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶9; See Exhibit F, Judgment of the State of New York; See Exhibit H, Statement of outstanding charges from Douglas Elliman Property Management attached to the Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan,	Disputed; Defendant was in default from May 2018 onwards but Defendant contends the Residential Board unreasonably barred Defendant and Parmar from the use and enjoyment of the Condominium. Defendant disputes default in the period between February and May 2018.
19. On September 20, 2019, the Supreme Court of the State of New York entered judgment in the sum of $200,208.04, in favor of the Residential Board of Managers ("RBM") as against Defendant and the real property for failure to pay the associated fees and costs for electricity, taxes, and assessments incurred by living in the Condominium Unit. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶9; See Exhibit F, Judgment of the State of New York attached to the Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan	Not Disputed; but Defendant contends the Residential Board unreasonably barred Defendant and Parmar from the use and enjoyment of the Condominium.
20. As of October 1, 2020, the RBM is owed not less than $369,469.96, as Defendant or another has not paid the associated fees and costs for any month since February 1, 2018. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶11; See Exhibit H, Statement of outstanding charges from Douglas Elliman Property	Disputed; Defendant admits the amount of the judgment but contends the loss of utility of the space far outweighs the value being claimed.

V. Parmar's Diversion of the Debtor's Funds To Cover His Outstanding Personal Loans

21.	In July, 2009, Parmar borrowed $600,000 from his neighbor Howard Schoor and by 2010, Parmar was in default on the loan. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶¶13-14; See Exhibits J and K attached to the Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan; See Request For Judicial Notice, Exhibit 2, Complaint, Exhibit A; Dkt. No. 1; Howard M. Ehrenberg v. Howard M. Schoor; Adv. Proc. No. 20-08042	Not admitted or denied; but Defendant objects to the fact as having no relevance to a material issue.
22.	In January 2017, Parmar directed Zaharis to pay his personal debt to Schoor with monies from the Debtor despite the fact the Debtor had no monies to make payroll. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶15; See Exhibit L, attached to the Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan; See Request For Judicial Notice, Exhibit 2, Complaint, Exhibit A; Dkt. No. 1; Howard M. Ehrenberg v. Howard M. Schoor; Adv. Proc. No. 20-08042	Not admitted or denied; but Defendant objects to the fact as having no relevance to a material issue.
23.	On May 20, 2017, Parmar and Zaharis conspired to and did create a fake vendor agreement, invoices and falsified receivables in order to make it appear that	Disputed; but Defendant objects to the fact as having no relevance to a material issue and cannot admit or deny and as such denies.

Schoor rendered services to the Debtor. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶16; See Exhibit M attached to the Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan; See Request For Judicial Notice, Exhibit 2, Complaint, Exhibit A; Dkt. No. 1; Howard M. Ehrenberg v. Howard M. Schoor; Adv. Proc. No. 20-08042
24. As of February 2010, Parmar personally borrowed $1,000,000 from Mark Feuer ("Feuer"). Parmar was owed not less than $400,000 as of 2016. See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶13; See Exhibit J attached to the Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan; See Request For Judicial Notice, Exhibit 3, Complaint, Exhibit A; Dkt. No. 1; Howard M. Ehrenberg v. Moshe Feuer and Miriam Feuer; Adv. Proc. No. 20-08039	Not admitted or denied; but Defendant objects to the fact as having no relevance to a material issue.
25. On February 7, 2017, at Parmar's direction, $900,000 of the Debtor's funds were wired to Feuer from the Debtor's IOLA account at Robinson Brog approximately ½ of which paid back Parmar's personal loan. (See Request For Judicial Notice, Exhibit 3, Complaint, Exhibit A; Dkt. No. 1; Howard M. Ehrenberg v. Moshe Feuer and Miriam Feuer; Adv. Proc. No. 20-08039). See Affidavit of Jeffrey Nolan, ¶13; See Request For Judicial Notice, Exhibit 3, Complaint, Exhibit A; Dkt. No. 1; Howard M. Ehrenberg v. Moshe Feuer and Miriam Feuer; Adv. Proc. No. 20-08039	Not admitted or denied; but Defendant objects to the fact as having no relevance to a material issue.

VI. The Debtors Recorded Consecutive Losses Each Year From 2015 To The Petition Date And Had Negative Cumulative Earnings of -$133,398,156, As of December 31, 2017

26.	FTI Consulting, Inc. ("FTI") was appointed in September 2017 to conduct a forensic examination of the Debtors' business following questions raised as to CHT's financial condition. See Declaration of Timothy J. Dragelin ¶75, See Request for Judicial Notice; Exhibit 1, Declaration, Dkt. No. 2; In re Orion Healthcorp, Inc.	Not Disputed.
27.	Timothy J. Dragelin served as the Debtors' CEO and CRO shortly after the resignation of executives Parmar, and termination of Sam Zaharis, and Ravi Chivukula on September 29, 2017, and through the filing of the Petition, restructuring and sale of the Debtors' assets. See Declaration of Timothy J. Dragelin ¶¶77-82; See Request for Judicial Notice; Exhibit 1, Declaration, Dkt. No. 2; In re Orion Healthcorp, Inc.	Not Disputed.
28.	On September, 16, 2015, the Debtor CHT acquired Phoenix Health, LLC for 14.0 million, and acquired its business. However, Phoenix had no business, assets or employees and was a fictitious entity. See Declaration of Timothy J. Dragelin, pgs. 10-11; 30-32, ¶¶ 23, 90, 94, 95; See Request for Judicial Notice; Exhibit 1, Declaration, Dkt. Defendants Separate Statement of Facts

Defendant Statement of Fact		Plaintiff's Response in Reply
A	Defendant is an active Domestic Limited Liability Company formed under the laws of the State of New York on December 23, 2015. Division of Corporations certificate, Plaintiff's Exhibit B	Not Disputed.
B.	Parmar was owed $650,000 annual salary plus bonuses calculated from EBITDA each year commencing in June 2013 and continuing up to and after the subject purchase in 2016. First United Health, LLC consulting agreement, attached as Defendant's Exhibit 1	Disputed; The fact is without foundation, evidentiary support and is the argument of counsel. The attached consulting agreement states FUH, not Parmar, will receive salary and potentially a bonus on a formula consisting of "EBITA" not EBITDA, less the amount of all funding obtained. (Section 2.1) No supporting documents were introduced into evidence to calculate what, if any, amount was due by non-debtor Constellation Health, LLC to FUH such that Plaintiff cannot agree any amount "was owed" to FUH and no documents were introduced into evidence to determine if "Parmar was owed" any amount by FUH. (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)

C.	EBITDA totaled in the millions in both 2014 and 2015, with annual increases. Excerpt from CHT Board Meeting Notes, attached as Defendant's Exhibit 2	Disputed; there is no foundation for Exhibit 2, a single page document, and the document references EBITDA, not EBITA. (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)
D.	CHT went public on the London AIM in 2014; part of the process included ratification and publication of Parmar's compensation under the consulting agreement. Admission to the AIM public document, attached as Defendant's Exhibit 3	Disputed; there is no foundation for Exhibit 3 and Exhibit 3 contradicts Exhibit 1 in material respects; the consulting agreement allegedly referenced in Exhibit 3 references a consulting agreement with FUH that limits any bonus to "up to $175,000, payable at the discretion of the board". (See Exhibit 3, Section 6.1) (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)
E.	In 2014, Parmar elected to receive his bonus in shares and was not paid in cash; the bonus was not disputed by the board and was ratified. Consent of the Board; attached as Defendant's Exhibit 4	Disputed; there is no foundation for Exhibit 4. Exhibit 4 states FUH, not Parmar, elected to receive B-2 Units rather than cash. (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)
F.	As of June 2015, the bonus due to Parmar under the consulting contract with FUH was in excess of 9 million dollars. Warrant dilution calculations dated June 26, 2015; attached as Defendant's Exhibit 5	Disputed; The fact is without foundation, evidentiary support, and is the argument of counsel. No evidence has been introduced that (a) a bonus in any amount was due to FUH, (b) Parmar was entitled to or paid by FUH, or (c) the Debtor accrued a liability. (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)

G.	The Debtor maintained multiple bank accounts, including a checking account at Manufacturer's Trust Bank, account #-68132. This fact is acknowledged by Plaintiff's Statement of Facts 3	Not Disputed.
H.	On December 23, 2015, the Debtor transferred $545,000 from the M&T Bank Account by wire to the account of Lustrin Tetelman, LLP, attorneys for the Sellers of Apartment 12J. The transfer was made on Parmar's behalf as part of the funds owed him under the FUH contract. The fact of this transfer is acknowledged in Plaintiff's Statement of Facts 4	Not Disputed as to the first sentence. As to the second sentence, Plaintiff objects as the statement is the argument of counsel without evidentiary support. Plaintiff admits the Transfer in question was made for the benefit Parmar, but no documentary evidence or sworn testimony supports any rationale for the funds or Condominium Unit being taken pursuant to any contract for compensation.
I	At the time of the purchase of Apartment 12J, the law firm of Robinson Brog represented the Debtor and maintained an escrow account already holding funds on the Debtor's behalf. Robinson Brog also represented FUH and Parmar, and prepared the LLC paperwork forming Defendant 2 River. See Plaintiff's Statement of Facts 8, Exhibit D to the Nolan Affidavit, and Plaintiff's Exhibit B	Plaintiff does Not Dispute that the law firm of Robinson Brog represented the Debtor or that Robinson Brog prepared the LLC paperwork forming Defendant 2 River. No evidentiary foundation exists for the remainder of the statement.

J	On February 19, 2016, the Debtor transferred $5,058,408.81 from the M&T Bank Account to the IOLA account maintained by Robinson Brog. This sum constituted the closing costs required for the purchase of Apartment 12J as well as a majority of the bonus owed to FUH for Parmar's services as CEO of the Debtor. Robinson Brog's IOLA account held other funds on behalf of the various entities it represented. The closing took place on that same date with funds from Robinson Brog's IOLA account. See Defendant's Exhibit 1, Plaintiff's Statement of Facts 7 and 8.	Not Disputed as to the first sentence. With respect to the second sentence, Plaintiff agrees that the $5,058,408.81 constituted the closing costs required for the purchase of Apartment 12J and was deposited on the same day it was removed from the M&T bank account into the escrow account. The statement of Defendant that the monies were validly diverted by Parmar as a bonus owed to FUH, or Robinson Brog's IOLA account held other funds for other entities lacks foundation, evidentiary support, and is the argument of counsel. (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)
K	Defendant 2 River purchased Apartment 12J from Clodagh Bowyer Greene and Elliott Greene. See Plaintiff's Statement of Facts 5	Not Disputed.
L	Throughout the year 2016 and for a substantial portion of 2017, Parmar continued in his role as CEO of Constellation. As part of this role, Parmar carried a corporate credit card issued in his name. Plaintiff's Exhibit 3, payment history for American Express Corporate Card issued in Parmar's name; Defendant's Exhibits 1 and 9	Not Disputed.

M	Throughout the year 2016, the Debtor engaged in negotiations with Chinh Chu and CC Capital leading up to a transaction that took the Debtor off the London AIM in January of 2017. The Go Private process required a significant financial outlay by the Debtor of both cash and personnel resources. Defendant's Exhibit 10, excerpt from funds flow do	Disputed; The fact is without foundation, evidentiary support and is the argument of counsel. (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)
N	In 2016, the Debtor acquired Allegiance Consulting Associates, LLC and Allegiance Billing & Consulting, LLC for a combined purchase price of $4,776,000. Defendant's Exhibit 6, Closing statement for ABC/ACA acquisition	Disputed; The fact is without foundation, evidentiary support and is the argument of counsel. (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)
O	In June of 2016, the Debtor paid in excess of $18 million to pay off principal debt, pay pre-payment fees, and buy back outstanding options. Defendant's Exhibit 7, Loan Warrant Settlement	Disputed; The fact is without foundation, evidentiary support and is the argument of counsel. (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)
P	Throughout the months immediately following the purchase of Apartment 12J, the Debtor maintained a healthy cash flow through its primary operating account at JP Morgan Chase. Defendant's Exhibit 8, redacted full statement for March 2016 and redacted summary pages through June 2016	Disputed; The fact is without foundation, evidentiary support and is the argument of counsel. (See Motion To Strike And Evidentiary Objections To Exhibits In Support Of Defendant's Opposition, filed concurrently)
